UNIVERSAL GRAIN CODE

Every word in the Universal Grain Code means a saving in telegraph tolls to you. With three or four words you can make a message that will clearly convey just the instructions that you want to give, without its disclosure to others.

This book, undoubtedly the most complete grain and milling code ever published, is printed on bond paper and bound in flexible leather.

Better secure a copy now and let it begin to cut down your tolls. Price $3.00.

PITTSBURGH'S POSITION

An Envable One

- a large and active railroad center.
- a river shipping point at the junction of the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio rivers.
- an industrial center unequalled.
- a grain market quite in keeping with its other attributes.

This great market offers its grain handling and shipping facilities to you, Mr. Shipper. Avail yourself of the opportunity and make your next shipment to any of the members of the Pittsburgh Exchange mentioned here.

CODE WORDS

for

U. S. Corn, Oats, Wheat Grades

FREE

A supplement to the Universal Grain Code is ready for distributoin. It is free.

The Universal Grain Code was compiled especially for the use of the grain and milling trades, and it contains every word, phrase and term in use by the grain trade. The Code makes it possible to keep your business messages private. Its 146 pages contain 13,745 expressions and no two code words are spelled near enough alike to cause confusion. The book is 7x4 $\frac{5}{8}$  inches in size, printed on policy-bond paper, and bound in black, flexible leather. The price is only \$3.00.

Names of purchasers are published in the list of Universal Code Users and distributed to the grain trade free of charge.

The Supplement is a four-page folder to be inserted between pages 44 and 45 of Code. It gives a code word for each class, sub-class, and grade of wheat, oats and corn, and for each explanatory term, used in the new U. S. Standards. It is not lawful to sell grain for shipment in interstate commerce by any other grade than those specified in the Standards, and therefore it is necessary to specify those grades when wiring in order that misunderstandings may be avoided. A copy of the Supplement will be sent free upon receipt of an addressed, stamped envelope.

MATFELON in a message means Universal Grain Code.

Read What This Mill Man Says:

"I cannot praise the engine too much as we are getting excellent service from it. Can do a heavy day's work on 12 gallons of kerosene and one gallon of lubricating oil, where we used 30 to 40 gallons of gasoline in our old equipment. Maintenance has cost us nothing so far. We pull double leg elevator 6x12 cups, 60 in. globe cleaner, 9x18 roller feed mill and handle car puller at one operation and have not reached the limit of power at that. Were unable to handle cleaner and feed mill at same time with old equipment."

Duplicating Grain Contracts

Do not take chances on verbal contracts for future delivery of the grain you are now purchasing. With the present unstable condition of the markets, Mr. Farmer is very liable to forget them if the market should advance or his crop be a failure.

Our Duplicating Grain Contracts will save you time, worry and money and should be used on every purchase. They certify the Farmer "has sold— Bushels of — at — cents per bushel, to grade No. —, to be delivered at — on or before —." They also certify that "If inferior grain is delivered, the market difference at which such grain is selling on day of delivery shall be deducted."

Put up in books of 100 duplicate sets: Originals of bond paper are machine perforated so they may be easily torn out, while the manila duplicate remains firmly bound in the book. Both sheets contain a printed form on the back for entering all grain delivered on the contract. Check bound and supplied with 4 sheets of carbon. Size 5¼x8¼ inches.

Humphrey Elevator

The Pioneer Employees Belt Elevator

The employee's Elevator was the invention of Seth K. Humphrey, a miller himself, who knew from experience how much energy and valuable time was wasted climbing stairs in mills and elevators.

In 1887, the first Humphrey Employee's Elevators were manufactured and installed—and today most of these pioneers are in active use.

From the very start, employers have been quick to see the advantages the Humphrey possessed, reducing the costly waste of energy and time while saving its cost many times over.

Other manufacturers have imitated, but Humphrey performance and the high standard of Humphrey quality have grown to mean so much that all employees elevators are often referred to as Humphrey.

To get minimum cost in handling, you must have a durable, efficient Distributor, and fill all bins full.

THE RISING COST OF A LETTER

It is now costing you something like 15 cents for each business letter as per list below. The remedy is not to use fewer letters but to produce better letters and part of a better letter is its appearance. Give your effort the good impression that follows good stationery. Steel Die Embossed Stationery is to the letter what good clothes are to the salesman, and the extra cost over the ordinary kind where you send out 25 letters per day does not exceed 10 cents.

Here is a conservative list of letter cost per hundred. (This schedule omits cost of dictator's time, the largest item of all.)

This book is designed to facilitate the work of country buyers during the busy season when each farmer is hauling a number of loads at a time.
The above illustration shows the left hand side of the sheet which remains in the book. The outer half has the same rulings, but is printed on the other side of the sheet, so that when sheet is folded back on itself, and a sheet of carbon is inserted, an exact duplicate will be made of each entry.
Each page has room for 33 loads and is machine perforated down the middle so outer half may be torn out and given to the farmer or sent to head-

The book is 12x12 inches, check bound with canvas back, contains 225

Mr. James M. Huston, County Agent

Dear Sir:—

Answering your favor of the 19th inst., wish to say that our new concrete grain elevator was built by The Monolith Builders, Inc., Independence, Missouri.

We are well pleased with the building, and feel that we have more storage and a finer elevator, per dollar invested, than any other we know of.

The above mentioned people are mighty nice people to do business with, and we are sure that they will be glad to take this matter up with you in detail, and they can explain our building to you better than we can by letter.

Yours very truly,

Marketing Bureaus and Business

(From an Address by B. E. Clement, President Grain Dealers National Association, Before the Indiana Grain Dealers Association.)

The grain dealers of the nation possess wonderful qualities of citizenship. They have aspirations and ambitions, but nowhere in this broad land do I know of grain dealers having such ambitions or aspirations as the grain dealers of Indiana. In other parts of our great country the grain dealers while aspiring and endeavoring to be useful citizens are content when they vary from their regular employment with humble local positions of public trust or honor, but here in Indiana the grain dealers have not only captured the State Government, but they keep it in the trade. This fact speaks well for the grain dealers but it speaks better for the intelligence and the judgment of the citizenship of your great state. Nearly any good grain dealer will make an efficient public servant for the simple reason that the grain business is a business that constantly tests a man's courage. It demands the highest integrity. It affords opportunity for expression of man's best energies.

What is co-operative marketing? The answer should seem simple, but it is very complex. You cannot define it. Its designs and what its name implies are very different things. Co-operation is defined as joint action, or working together, but as we hear it preached and see it exemplified it means working the other fellow. Those very zealous gentlemen who are going up and down the country endeavoring to destroy the present distributing system, preaching as they do co-operative marketing, are hiding behind an apparently harmless and certainly very ambiguous phrase while they seek through the credulity of public men and through the blind faith of unthinking followers to commit the government, both state and national, to the proposition that it is the function of Government to distribute farm products.

If this isn't the design of these agitators, why are they clamoring for state marketing bureaus? Why are they in Washington seeking legislative enactment and appropriations looking to the creation and establishment of government agencies for the handling of farm products and the stabilization of values, another name for subsidy? These men whom I venture to say have never made a success at farming or any commercial enterprise are endeavoring to create political places in the hope of expectation of occupying them. They have no knowledge that qualifies them as merchants; they have no funds or credit that would enable them to engage in business. If they can create by law, state and national, marketing bureaus and expand and multiply their activities, and secure authority for placing their hands in state and national treasuries, they will have accomplished their purpose.

I can conceive of no more deplorable misfortune befalling our country, but when I witness, as I do, the readiness with which many of our public men either espouse such measures or lend willing ears to those who do, I become alarmed and see visions of the utter destruction of our republican form of Government and the setting up in its stead the thrall-dom of state socialism. The genius of America finds expression in the competitive individualism that exists here and through whose mighty force unequalled efficiency is attained and our stupendous progress maintained.

If farmers desire to engage in co-operative marketing the way is open. They need no legislation unless they are demanding special favors. These they are not entitled to and should not have. But, my friends, why should there be any demand for a change in the marketing system? Are the grain dealers inefficient? Are their facilities, financial and physical, inadequate. Are their charges out of proportion to services rendered? Are there monopolistic combinations among them inimical to the producers?

I answer no to every question.

The grain dealer finds a market for every bushel of grain offered for sale all over this broad land. He has adequate facilities in every town and at every country shipping point, great storage facilities at all terminal markets and ample finances to care for the grain movement of any magnitude. His charges for handling are down to the minimum because competition between individuals and firms and various markets is so great that profits are limited to narrow margins.

No greater disaster could befall this nation than the impairment of the present distributive system. None would suffer more in consequence than the producers themselves.

The creation of market bureaus and governmental agencies of distribution supported by taxation wherein expenses would not become any tax against the cost or sale of farm products looks very alluring, but is illusive only to those who do not or will not think. The creation of such agencies co-ordinated throughout the United States and financed by state and national governments would create a condition from a competitive standpoint that private business could not meet.

The result however would be a distinct disaster to both producer and consumer, for their taxes to maintain such agencies would far exceed the profits paid to private enterprises for the service of distribution. Besides there would be an unending conflict between the producers and the governmental agencies on the one hand, and the governmental agencies and the consumers on the other. The producer would never be satisfied with his returns and the consumer would always be dissatisfied with cost to him. These conflicting interests each insatiable and inordinate in their demands would have the governmental agencies which, having broken down the competitive system meeting the producers' increasing demands for greater returns by raids on the treasury while supplying the consumers at increasing losses, taxation to support such a scheme growing to such proportions as to destroy its votaries.

No argument is required to convince thinking men of the utter needlessness of the government engaging in distribution. The competitive system has not failed to effectively function either in war or peace. Its activities, training and facilities honeycomb the nation. Neither producer nor consumer can find any cause for complaint from inefficiency or inadequacy anywhere. The whole burden of complaint on the part of the producer is the price he receives and the consumer the price he pays. They should know and it is our business to tell them that their cause of complaint is not the grain dealer, nor their remedy through attacking the system of distribution which has never failed them.

Transportation charges, heavy taxation and increasing labor costs are the factors that have widened the difference between producers' returns and consumers' costs. The grain dealer is responsible for none of these. He does not profit by the widening difference. The difference could be cut in two without affecting the grain dealer.

Forty-five-cent corn in Nebraska and ninety-cent corn in Texas makes the price seem ridiculously low to the producer and unreasonably high to the consumer, but the average rate from interior points in Nebraska to Texas Group Three is about seventy-five cents per hundred or forty-two cents per bushel plus a cent and a quarter per bushel war tax. Thus it may be seen that to get a car of corn from Nebraska to Texas the producer and consumer have to join in giving the railroads and the government a car of equal size to pay freight charges and taxes. In proportion that we are taxed do we have that much less.

The Government cannot do anything for us without making us pay the bill and the Government cannot do the job half as cheap as we can do it for ourselves. This fact should admonish us to attend to our own business affairs whether we are producers or consumers, and insist that the government let us alone instead of asking it to help us along. I frankly state that it grieves and disappoints me that a great nation of courageous and self-reliant people whose education and predilections, whose history and training has from the very beginning of our government been along the line of doing for ourselves, employing government only for promoting justice and guaranteeing our rights and liberties and securing us in the enjoyment of them, now turning away from those principles and appealing to the government to do everything. That our public men, knowing the impracticability and incomparability of our form of government undertaking the things asked of it, will continue to encourage this weakness in the nation instead of pointing out the disaster that is bound to overtake us if they yield is incomprehensible to me. Our public men encourage these continued appeals and endeavors, however much their efforts may contravene, the spirit of our institutions, to placate the agitator. There are many things in the province of government that could be done and should be done for the amelioration of present conditions.

No grain dealer desires or profits by a condition that is inimical to the prosperity of the farmers and producers of this country. We go up or down together. A condition that forces the sale of the products of the farm at unremunerative prices is to be deplored by all of us. It affects us all alike though probably not in same degree. It is trite to say that the whole nation suffers when the producers cannot sell their products at remunerative values, for to be unable to do so impairs their purchasing power which reacts upon every single industry and enterprise in this nation, and instead of low values for food being a boon to consumers it's a bomb. Low-priced farm products means, as we are now witnessing, depression and stagnation.

No one suffers the evil consequences of depression like the consumer. He has no means of support but his daily labor, and depression often makes it impossible for him to find employment. Declines in the value of all the products of the farm and factory, mines and forests was to be expected after the ending of the war, but the drastic declines in the products of the farms and ranches has been brought about not by the natural order of things but by credit restrictions, enforced liquidation, and untimely deflation all precipitated upon the nation by the policy of the Federal Reserve Board.

I have read numerous articles extolling the Board's action and telling us how it saved us from dire calamity and if the calamity from which they saved us would have been any worse than the one we have been encouraged to thank them for our gratitude should know no bounds.

Bankers There is a mystery about finance that my limited intellectual powers have not been able to discern so I leave their intricacies to the supernatural powers of our more fortunate fellow citizens. It however will always seem to me to have been a better plan to have refrained from credit restriction until liquidation could have been accomplished on basis of high values. Liquidation is simply retiring obligations and it will always seem to me that more obligations could be retired with high-priced commodities and high-priced products than at low prices. It would have lifted a lot of anguish out of our souls if prices could have been maintained until liquidation could have been accomplished. Unfortunately many of our fellow citizens have been and are yielding up their products and commodities and only half liquidating and obligating or failing for the balance. Enforced liquidation either individually or as a nation simply means that you take what you can get. You have no choice. You do not negotiate a sale; you solicit a bid and the extremity to which you are reduced makes it necessary to take what you are offered however unreasonable or unremunerative it may be. The nation has just undergone such an experience and in the ratios in which money was made while times were good and the markets advancing has the punishment been dreadful or moderate.

Optimistic now. I feel that the worst is over. All have taken our punishment and are now ready and anxious for a swift move forward. Advancing values in cotton, corn, oats and wheat are needed to restore confidence, revive and increase the purchasing power of the producers of the nation which alone can move the manufacturing and industrial centers to action, diminish unemployment and restore the progress and prosperity of the nation. Since the liquidation and deflation sought has been attained the condition of commercial, industrial and productive lethargy is wholly psychological. Let us move forward in solid phalanx to the prosperity that is ours only for the seeking, which means WORK.

Congress can render the producers and manufacturers of this nation a great and enduring service by passing tariff laws which will give ample protection to the producers and manufacturers of this country thus preserving American markets for American producers and manufacturers, insuring remunerative values for our farm products, guaranteeing the operation at full capacity our manufacturing enterprises and the continuous and uninterrupted employment of all those of our country who are willing and anxious to work.

Some will tell you that foreigners cannot pay us unless we buy from them. Of course that is nonsense. If you have a neighbor who is indebted to you and he had a lot of fresh meat to sell and you had plenty of your own you would not buy his because he owed you, and let your own spoil. So it is with the nation. We don't want to buy foreign manufactured products, farm products or raw materials that we can manufacture or produce within our own confines in adequate amounts for our own needs. We should not want to buy or encourage the purchase of farm products or manufactured goods abroad the purchase of which will add to our already abundant supply thus fringing idleness to Americans and losses by low values.

If we buy abroad what we already have we send our wealth away and waste our own energies. If we don't buy foreign products of the kind we have or can produce in abundance our own labor and wealth will be employed and increased.

Foreigners will then find other markets for their products and pay us what they owe us. If I had to choose between losing what they owe us and sacrificing the prosperity of America to furnish foreigners' markets here while our labor goes unemployed and our products decline to impoverishing levels, I should prefer losing what they owe us. (Applause.) We however can buy from abroad immense quantities of goods and products that we do not manufacture or produce. Let them pay us with what we have not. I do not believe any argument is needed to convince practical men of the folly of furnishing a dumping ground for foreign wool, oils, rice and other products when we have more of all than we can use.

J. C. SHAFFER GRAIN CO.
111 W. Jackson Blvd.

Chicago, Nov. 3, 1920.

Grain Dealers Journal,
305 So. LaSalle St.,
Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:

We beg to advise that ever since the publication of the Universal Grain Code, we have used it continually with most of our brokers, and find it very satisfactory indeed. We found it a little difficult at first to educate some of our brokers to its use, but finally overcame any objections they had and now we use it almost entirely in transacting our cash grain business between the various markets in the East and Chicago. It is not only very complete in all details but is made up in a manner that permits of considerable saving in telegraph toll.

Yours very truly,

J. C. SHAFFER GRAIN
EMC*ES COMPANY

Note what they say about the completeness of the code and how easy it is to find words thru the convenient arrangement. Many other grain firms say the same.

The code contains 146 pages of policy bond paper on which are printed over 14,000 code words for modern, up-to-date trade expressions, every one of which will effect a saving in your telegraph bills.

Follow the example of the J. C. Shaffer Company and stop the leaks in your profits by using an up-to-date, complete grain code.

CHICAGO, JANUARY 25, 1921

THE CAR SHORTAGE is a thing of the past, making possible a tremendous movement of corn. Tell it to the farmers.

"SHIP NOW" is the new slogan of the C. M. & St. P. R. R. When grain dealers wanted to ship this road had no cars.

GASOLINE came down 2 cents yesterday and the old gasoline engine in the grain elevator looks better to the operator who has thought of putting in an electric motor.

BEEF steers selling at the lowest prices in five years at the stockyards promises that all of the corn crop will not be marketed on the hoof, but with the aid of the grain dealer and corn exporter.

LESS FREIGHT would be stolen from cars if the courts would deal more rigorously with those found guilty of robbing them. Maudlin sentiment wins too much sympathy for the wrong doer.

THE BILL for refund of the losses sustained on the early 1917 wheat as the result of government price fixing is not dead, but sleeping and will be revived when Congress convenes in extraordinary session.

TAX ON FREIGHT automatically was raised 50 per cent when the freight rate raise went into effect. If this was not the intent of the Congress it is in order to make an immediate reduction in the tax from 3 per cent to 2 per cent, as 2.14% would net the government the same return as before. Better still, repeal the tax. The war is over.

CARS still do leak grain, as shown by reports published under "Leaking in Transit," elsewhere, altho the railroad companies are laying off the mechanics in the car repair shops for want of work to occupy their time.

THE GREEN BUG scare is being revived on the strength of the mild winter, the Oklahoma Commissioner of Agriculture having received numerous complaints of the presence of this pest, which multiplies itself so fabulously.

CANADIAN wheat ground in United States mills increases the amount of bran and middlings available to the American farmer who keeps cows. With a high tariff on wheat this grain would go direct to Europe and our farmer would pay more for his feed.

THE FAILURE of many grain firms recently proves positively that the careful, strenuous, tenacious fighters will survive the difficulties of our present business depression. The conservative man who keeps posted and uses intelligent caution is sure to come out on top.

A TERRIBLE financial strain is imposed on those who have to buy wheat with greatly depreciated currency, declares an Italian wheat importer. We happen to know that the American wheat is being paid for not in depreciated lire but in lemons and raisins and other Mediterranean products equally inflated.

HIGH FREIGHT rates on bulky commodities are absurd in the face of low prices. One of the Congressmen, who probably voted for the freight rate increases, was astonished when testimony at the wheat futures hearing last week brot out what the Kansas farmer was paying in freight to move his wheat to Galveston. The tax laid by the wheat speculator is infinitesimal compared with the transportation tax.

CORN receipts at Chicago Jan. 24 at 1,562 cars nearly broke a record, but did not break the market, thanks to the benefits of the future delivery trading system that the Farm Buro Federation so strenuously opposes. The market price actually advanced that day. For weeks prior to the big day there had been a steady dribble of short sales by those who had or expected to have the corn, so that the actual progress of the corn toward the consumer was marked by a taking off of hedges, resulting in higher prices.

THE AGRICULTURAL APPROPRIATION bill recently introduced in the House of Representatives contained no provision whatever for free seeds, so it again seemed possible that the country might be relieved from this wanton waste. But an amendment has been proposed to the bill, providing for a large appropriation to buy free seeds for Congressmen to throw at their supporters at home. At a time when the entire country is greatly in need of economy in all forms, it would seem possible for Congress to develop enough backbone to condemn and discontinue this ridiculous distribution of worthless seeds. A word from the supporters at home always helps them to take a more reasonable view of any problem. Try it.

THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION is prolific in suggestions if not in practical work. One of its late recommendations is for central markets for perishable food products, which could be sold by the producer direct to the consumer, under the regulation of this much esteemed commission. Its own interference with the operation of the business would be enough to handicap and discourage the most determined champions of a government market.

FIFTY CENTS for wool from 1917 to the spring of 1920 seems to have blinded wool growers to the pre-war price of 15 to 20 cents per pound. In Michigan alone the growers in a pool are holding 3,500,000 lbs. off the market. In 1913 cotton was worth 12 cents and wool 15 cents. If cotton now is worth 13 cents why should wool sell for more than 16 cents? It would seem the part of wisdom for the growers to accept the 25 cents now offered.

WITHOUT FUTURE trading Professor Boyle stated to a congressional com'te last week the margin between producer and consumer would be increased 5 cents per bushel, while the toll taken by the pits is only ¼ cent a bushel. Dealers in cash grain who are lukewarm in their support of the exchanges may have their eye on the 5 cents. Let them not delude themselves into believing the rank and file of the trade will get the increased profit. All the enhanced profit will go to a few big capitalists who can afford to take the risk.

DIFFERENT CLASSES of citizens have been appealing to Congress for relief from anti-trust and other laws designed to regulate the business transactions of all our people. But the selfish ones want to be excepted. Congress has blundered several times in trying to except certain classes of citizens from penalties of laws originally designed for all the people, but with much regret, and it does not seem practicable for such exceptions to be made. If Congress cannot enact laws which are fair to all classes of citizens, then enact none.

NORTH and South America are about as far apart as the poles on the matter of embargoes or export tax on wheat. United States producers want an embargo on imports so that domestic consumers can be forced to pay more for bread; while the Argentine wants an export tax so that the foreigner can be forced to contribute to the expense of running the government. Do the politicians think the grain growers are so gullible as to believe an embargo will raise the price in an exporting country, or that the European will buy Argentine wheat plus tax when he can purchase wheat from many other climes without tax? If Argentina persists in enforcing this impost the domestic price of wheat in Argentina will be less by the amount of the tax, and the growers will be feeding the home population at their own expense. In other words, the revenue to the government will be vastly less than the loss to the wheat grower, because the price of all wheat will be lowered, but the tax will be paid only on the portion of the crop exported.

MINE to the consumer is the plan of Senator Calder, who has set the taxes under his coal regulation bill purposely to "tax out of existence" the middlemen. Established regular coal dealers do not knowingly patronize mine operators who ship direct to consumers, so that if the Senator makes his plan effective the mine operators will have to choose as they do now, whether to cater exclusively to the consumers or to the trade. Will each mine operator establish his own retail coal yards in all the towns where his output is distributed? If he does the cost of distribution will be increased, defeating Senator Calder's well meant purpose.

AN ONTARIO ELEVATOR was completely destroyed recently, together with a large quantity of grain, because its new operators did not recognize the necessity of oiling the bearings of the feed mill frequently, and a hot journal started a fire that destroyed the plant, notwithstanding a number of customers were waiting to be served. No doubt many more plants are sacrificed to hot bearings than is believed possible. Rapidly moving machinery, working under the stress of a heavy movement of grain, needs careful watching and all bearings should be thoroughly inspected at frequent intervals and always after the machinery has been shut down for the day.

ARBITRATION is such a good thing that many dealers are making the mistake of leaning upon it too heavily. They indulge in loose wording of contracts and a carelessness of details well knowing that any difference arising with a fellow member of the ass'n will be ironed out by the arbitration com'te. In this respect well known firms of high standing are equally guilty. Two such recently were severely reprimanded by an arbitration com'te of the National Ass'n denying both parties interest and stating that "The litigants in this case are entitled to severe criticism for allowing so many petty claims to go into an arbitration case. Many of the small claims had been acknowledged by plaintiff, yet they forced this com'te to go over pages and pages of correspondence that really had no place in the case."

MINNESOTA AGITATORS are attempting to undermine the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce by securing the enactment of a law requiring it to admit co-operative companies to membership, even though they do violence to the rules of the exchange and rebate part of their earnings to favored shippers. Cut-throat competition and rebating years ago so undermined the morale of grain exchange members that all now have similar rules on rebating commissions. It is easy to discern that if one class of receiving members were permitted to rebate their commissions, while others were denied this privilege, the rebaters would soon have all the business, would take on the haughty manners of the monopolist and bid defiance to the interests of all others. This would result in a disintegration of the exchange, and the destruction of the open market, so necessary to the expeditious marketing of farm products.

STORING GRAIN for farmers has so handicapped many an elevator man that he could not handle much grain offered him for sale, with the natural result that most country elevator operators long since discontinued the storage business and now refuse to accommodate would-be storers, either for a storage fee or without compensation. The trouble in most cases has been that declining markets have encouraged the farmers to hold their grain long beyond what the elevator man expected and long beyond the period for which the grain owners expect to pay. Some have obtained relief from this imposition by inserting a clause in storage receipt authorizing them to sell grain for account of the owner if not removed or sold by a given date. If anyone has anything to say in favor of storing without a handsome fee, every grain elevator operator in the business would like to know of it.

FUMIGATING an elevator with bisulfid of carbon introduces a fire and explosion hazard that underwriters believe is so serious as to warrant prohibition of this inflammable liquid. By the way, has anyone calculated how much extra premium should have been collected from all the elevator operators of the United States to pay the cost of the elevators that have been destroyed in bisulfid of carbon fires? To rid elevators of weevil by the heat treatment is costly, and even cyanide and special cleaning might cost the trade $150,000 annually, while with bisulfid of carbon costing $7,500 and an elevator burned at a cost of $7,500, a guess makes the total cost $15,000. The economic saving by the use of bisulfid is considerable, and the grain elevator operator should be permitted to use it by taking out special insurance against bisulfid explosion at as low a price as he can buy tornado insurance. If the elevator operator makes no attempt to free his plant of weevil his lethargy may cost him more than the price of a new house.

DIRECT MARKETING is covered in a comprehensive report of the chief of the Bureau of Markets on 568 experimental shipments of 16 different commodities by parcel post and express. The work on this project was discontinued June 30, 1920, for lack of funds. With the lack of candor common to workers in a blind alley the failure of the direct marketing scheme to develop into anything worth while is excused by referring to high wages, scarcity of labor and abundance of money in circulation. If Congress appropriates more money for direct marketing the Bureau is willing to resume the work of throwing the dollars into this sink-hole, ignoring the fundamental truth that direct marketing is certain to be a failure as long as the buyer wants competition between sellers and the seller wants competition between buyers. Unless there is the intervention of the marketplace, the speculator, or the auction each of the two parties to the transaction will entertain secret misgivings that the other party is gouging him. The farmer will fear he is not getting enough for that dozen of eggs, and the urban dweller will fear he is paying too much.

House Com'te Less Certain That Futures Must Stop.

In the mind of the average farmer the "short seller" is on a moral plane with a horse thief; and all the agitation against the grain exchanges proceeds on the assumption that doing away with the future delivery trading on the exchange will abolish short selling. The farmer wants to do all the selling of his product himself and is determined to prevent anyone from selling the crop without first buying it from the farmer.

Pursuing the wicked short seller as a lynching party does a horsethief or a rapist, the self-appointed friends of the farmer drew up the Capper-Tincher bill, and, legitimate grain dealers who are in no way interested in the welfare of the short seller immediately perceived this precious document periled the entire system of marketing the crops on the exchanges.

Rallying to defend the most economical system of distribution conservative bankers, merchants, grain dealers and even farmers voiced their opposition to the bill before the House Com'te on Agriculture. Included in the opposition were the former U. S. Food Administrator, the former Wheat Director and the presidents of the leading exchanges. Hearings have ceased while the com'te has retired to redraft the bill, presumably to preserve the hedging facilities of the exchange defended by the trade and the bankers and still to exterminate the short seller as desired by the Farm Bureau Federation.

It remains to be seen whether the redrafted measure is any less objectionable to the legitimate trade than the original bill.

State Legislation Against Futures.

The same persons who have been encouraging Tincher of Kansas and Capper of the same state to press anti-futures legislation in the national legislature are fearful lest the measure they advocate shall be made effective in their own state, and they are vociferous in their opposition to S. B. 29 introduced in the Kansas State Legislature by Senator Green.

Their argument is that if future trading were permitted in other states while it was prohibited in Kansas all the hedging business would be driven to other states and the local boards of trade in Kansas would be closed. If future trading is such a bad thing why worry? If the majority of the grain dealers, farmers, voters and consumers of Kansas desire to prohibit future trading by all means they should be permitted to have their way. The misguided citizens of North Dakota wanted the Non-Partisan League and they got it. Altho the League has not been running North Dakota very long, already the sane residents of Minnesota, South Dakota and Montana are very glad to have an object lesson close by, manifesting practically what are the evils of the Townley system.

Under Green's bill no broker could take a trade on margin, because having done so he could not close it out when the margin was exhausted, but would have to hold it open until delivery, Sec. 2 expressly stating that the deposit shall not be "wiped out by any fluctuations of the market."

This bill strikes at sales of grain by anyone not the owner. It proceeds under the fallacy that no one but the grower and the grain consumer shall be interested in the handling of the crops. If this bill becomes a law, grain could still be marketed in Kansas, just about as smoothly as the farmer could haul his grain to the elevator in a farm wagon that had no grease on the axles.

Freight Rates Must Be Reduced.

The President of the National Ass'n, in his address before the Indiana grain dealers, called attention to the fact that high freight rates on many commodities were barring many cheap products from market.

While hay is commanding a relatively high price in many of the terminal markets, much of it is permitted to go to waste because the expenses of getting to market would amount to more than the prices prevailing in the markets. Mr. Clement said that to transport a car of corn from Nebraska to Texas Group 3 points would necessitate the buyer paying as much for transportation and the Federal tax as he paid for the corn.

Shippers generally seems to have overlooked the fact that doubling and tripling the wages of the railway employees would eventually effect so great an increase in the cost of transportation as to bar many of the products commonly handled from the central markets.

The Indiana Ass'n not only adopted resolutions demanding a reduction in freight rates, but also appealed to the Railway Wage Board, asking for a readjustment of the contractual relations between the carriers and their employees, in the hope of assisting the railway companies to obtain a full day's work for a day's pay.

The railway unions have been so extravagant in their demands for increased compensation that they have greatly over-reached the bounds of reason, and the increase in freight rates made necessary by the increase granted the workmen is sure to effect a great reduction in the amount of commodities shipped. Even now, some railroads are unable to make their expenses, because the heavy increases imposed upon them by the wage awards have forced them to advance freight rates to the point where it discourages traffic.

Throughout the entire existence of the railroads, prior to Government control, the controlling factor in making a rate was, "How much will the traffic stand?" Railroad men everywhere recognized the fact that high rates are in a measure responsible for the decline in their business. The low prices prevailing in terminal markets leaves very little for the producer who is far from these centres.

Many shippers in the past have been disposed to deny that they had any interest in the amount of freight charged for transportation, because they have always deducted the amount from the price prevailing in the central market, but they have overlooked the fact an extremely high rate tends to bar cheap products from market.

When you get a chance to protest against this unfair handicap to your business, do it with vigor. The fighters will win this year.

The Care of Stored Grain.

Recent complaints from Ohio indicate that large quantities of oats which were placed in store, apparently in prime condition, are coming out badly bin burned and some of them musty.

Some of the wheat which has been marketed recently from other sections is grading sample, because it is musty. This is not to be expected in a dry clime like Kansas, yet shippers of the sunflower state are receiving disappointing returns on many inspections.

The corn crop was supposed to be unusually dry and of high quality, yet many shipments are grading 5, 6 and sample.

The entire trouble seems to be due largely to the lack of proper care of the grain stored. A few wagon loads of musty wheat can quickly taint and lower the grade of an entire bin full. Not only must country elevator operators keep a close watch on the grain they hold in store, but they must also guard vigilantly against receipts from farmers' bins lest they mix damaged grain with the good and thereby greatly increase a loss which should not have come to them.

Elevator men who are anxious to have their grain grade right at destination owe it to themselves to blow their grain occasionally, clean it, and keep it in condition to merit a high grade, and then to make one final effort to raise the grade before they start it to market. This will greatly improve its quality even though the railroad does see fit to delay the shipment an inordinate time in transit.

The Stand For Fair Dealing.

All grain dealers recognize and admit abstractly that no trade organization can afford to compromise with wrong dealing. The grain exchanges, the trade ass'ns, must always take a firm stand against dishonesty and wrong doing in business transactions, else their disintegration would be an early certainty.

All fair minded members of the trade admit that the most economical method of settling trade differences, and the one most likely to result in fair decisions, is through the arbitration of differences before men of experience in the business. Through this channel of adjustment, all the bitterness and acrimony of the old time pettifogger is eliminated, and cases are decided purely on their merits.

Recently falling markets have so biased some dealers, it has been difficult for them to bring themselves to accept the decisions of the arbitrators, with the result that a few, and we are glad to place the emphasis on the few, have been expelled from the ass'ns for refusing to abide by the decisions of the arbiters.

No trade organization which seeks the support of the right minded members of the trade can afford to harbor or protect the dealer who is not willing to deal fairly, and the Chicago Board of Trade is to be commended for its promptness in investigating the newspaper charges made against one of its members for short weighting customers to whom he sold grain.

One western ass'n is said to have expelled a member whom formerly it had honored with the position of President. Naturally, it was hard for the officers to take such a firm stand against one who had served the organization, but when it comes to dealing with dishonesty, trickery, and unfairness, no trade organization which hopes to live can afford to compromise, and it is indeed gratifying to note that all of the ass'ns are taking a firm stand against wrong doing, even among those standing high in the trade.

Good Roads More Necessary.

Increased rail freight rates will have a tendency to develop community centers more sufficient unto themselves and to a local production and exchange of products hitherto shipped from long distant points by rail.

Following this there should be an increased demand for horse-drawn and motor driven vehicular transport over good roads.

With more than 2,000,000 miles of unsurfaced roads remaining in the United States, there is room for great improvement in the facilities for hauling the farmer's grain to the elevator. The delivery of grain to the country station is too irregular, difficult and expensive. The farmer is forced to devote too much of his time to unproductive work, preventing the cultivation of the crops.

A practical suggestion toward the improvement of the roads is to move road building materials in February and March, which is the time when open top cars are in least demand. Stone, sand and gravel should now be accumulated in stock piles ready for use.

SPAIN'S CORN crop for 1920 will total approximately 24,000,000 bus. according to an announcement made by the Spanish Department of Agriculture.

SCALES, measures and standards now in use must be discarded if the metric system is made compulsory, as Senator Freylinghuyesen of New Jersey would have it. England, which has long done a large export business with nations using the metric system, has stuck to its own weights and standards. While the metric system may admit of finer measurements, the advantages to be gained by making a change are somewhat uncertain, and the average American will hesitate a long time before endorsing such an expensive change.

THIS CROP as a rule did not any more than pay for the planting and harvesting, leaving the farmer in debt, which has to be carried over until the new crop comes in. A country bank, which has been furnishing the farmer money, has had to curtail its credits because of the natural decline of deposits, and is forced in every way to hold its commitments to the very lowest possible amounts. Taking these reasons into account, I can see nothing for the next eight months but a conservative, economical, careful buying period, when liquidation of debts is more thought of than expansion.—C. T. Jaffray, pres. Minneapolis First National Bank.

Book on the Grain Business?

Grain Dealers Journal: Is there a book that treats of the grain business in its various branches, the sources of supply, methods of concentration, the names of the shipping points and market centers?—C. H. Morin, New York, N. Y.

Ans.: No comprehensive work on the grain business has been published.

Illinois Warehouse Law?

Grain Dealers Journal: Does the Illinois law require a country elevator operator storing grain for others to take out a license?—E. F. Havey, Chicago, Ill.

Ans.: A country elevator storing grain for hire would seem to be classified as a public utility and therefore under the jurisdiction of the State Public Utilities Commission; and the Commission, acting under the advice of the attorney of the Illinois Grain Dealers Ass'n that it had such jurisdiction, undertook to prescribe regulations for country elevator operators, as published in full in the Grain Dealers Journal at the time, July, 1914, page 45.

But, as pointed out by the Journal on page 47 of the same number, no penalty is provided for failure to obey the Commission's regulations, and the law and regulations not being enforceable, it has become a dead letter. In fact, the Monarch Refrigerating Co. went into court and denied the jurisdiction of the Commission to require the filing of schedules of storage charges.

Charging Off for Depreciation?

Grain Dealers Journal: In reply to the inquiry by the 48th Star Mills, in this column Jan. 10, with regard to the depreciation that should be charged for mill machinery, mill buildings and motors I would say that the subject of depreciation may be approached from so many different angles that it would be hard to make a brief answer to the inquiry.

Most manufacturers seeking information on the subject wish to know what the Government will allow as a deduction rather than the amount of depreciation which has actually occurred.

To further complicate the situation, one is confronted with the fact that many mill owners followed the custom of placing their original investment on the books and never adding to it, on the theory that improvements and betterments offset depreciation. This saved bookkeeping but probably is costing the mills a great deal of money in taxes under the present system. As a general rule, based on original cost, I believe the Government Inspectors stick to the following percentages of depreciation:

Buildings: Concrete, 1½ to 2%; brick, 3%; frame and iron clad, 5%. Machinery: Motors and major equipment, 8 to 10%. Office and factory furniture and fixtures: 15 to 20%.

These percentages, of course, have nothing to do with the actual depreciation but are average, and, in the absence of any proof to the contrary, inspectors will, no doubt, stick fairly close to them.

In actual practice we find that the depreciation which occurs in the first few years is rather light. Then for a period there is a slight increase but after a certain amount, where any further impairment of the condition would result in the disablement of the equipment, there is no further depreciation noted until the item is scrapped.

We are sorry not to be able to give any additional light on this subject, but will be pleased to answer any questions on specific cases, at any time, which subscribers desire.—Clifford B. Ross, pres. The Lloyd-Thomas Co., Chicago, Ill.

Grain Situation in Argentina?

Grain Dealers Journal: Where can I get information in regard to the grain and elevator situation in Argentina?—J. Earl Giddings, Milledgeville, O.

Ans.: An illustrated article on "Grain Handling in the Argentine Republic" was published on pages 1126, 1127 and 1128 of the Grain Dealers Journal for Dec. 25, 1919. The author was Edward H. Bingham, now manager of the grain department of Penick & Ford, who had just returned from an extensive tour of the Argentine to investigate conditions from the standpoint of the grain dealer.

Recovery for Carriers' Delay?

Grain Dealers Journal: Has a shipper any recourse to collect from a railroad, where the railroad did not deliver grain promptly to destination? For example, if a car leaves station on Jan. 15 and arrives and is sold Jan. 20 at 9 cents less than it would have sold for had it been delivered promptly.—R. M. Thornton.

Ans.: Yes, the carrier is liable for the decline in market value during delay, if the delay is unreasonable. The delay is unreasonable if the time in transit exceeds that usually taken to move shipments between the same points in the same direction, as determined by the records of the movements of other cars.

Why Contractors Build Country Elevators So High.

Grain Dealers Journal: In reply to Miles & Olson's in the Journal for Nov. 10 as to why elevators are built so high, we would state that the cost of the land does not, as a rule, enter into the question at all. It is true that in the case of terminal elevators at docks where the site is restricted it may be a factor in the case, but very seldom in the case of country elevators.

The usual course of procedure is, for the owner to ask several contractors to put in bids for the erection of an elevator of a certain capacity, a few essential points besides capacity being named, but as the contractor is perfectly well aware that it is not the best elevator that is required but the cheapest, he accordingly puts in a design to meet the conditions required, i. e., one that shows the least first cost, and owing to several circumstances, the chief of which is the use of moving forms, the higher your bins the less the cost per bushel storage. It is a perfectly simple and obvious result of the short-sighted policy of the owner, and one for which the contractor is in no wise to blame.

The obvious cure for the evil is for the owner to have the design for his elevator prepared by someone who is not interested in obtaining the contract for building it, but who is interested in seeing that he gets the most economical building, both as regards first cost and operation, and then let all contractors bid on the same designs.

There is, however, apparently little hope of this course being followed as the owner thinks that by getting his designs from the builders competing for the contract he obtains them for nothing, while by employing an independent firm to design his buildings he would have to pay for the design. He pays for it anyhow, but in the first instance he does not know it because he does not think about it. If he did, he would see that the contractor's designing department, if it is of any value, costs money to keep up and that the only channel whereby this expenditure can be recouped is through his clients, i. e., himself. He not only pays for the designs in the contract price, but he also frequently pays perpetually, as your correspondent notes, for faults in the design for which his short-sighted policy is really responsible.

Would any sane man, requiring a house, ask for bids on one containing a given number of cubic feet of space. Yet this is practically what is done in the case of the majority of country elevators.—Harold Rolph, pres. John S. Metcalf Co., Ltd., Montreal, Que.

Delay in Reply to Offer.

Grain Dealers Journal: Thru a broker we sold a Michigan buyer two cars of corn at a price f.o.b. our track. The broker immediately sent us his confirmation.

The broker made the trade with us at 7:30 a. m. on the day after he had received the bid from the Michigan buyer; and he wired the buyer of his purchase from us, the message getting to buyer at 8:30 a. m. The buyer waited until nearly 10 o'clock a. m., before wiring the broker that they refused the corn. We did not know they refused to book this corn until three weeks later when the broker informed us he could not get them to take the corn. Can we collect the amount we are out thru arbitration?—R. D. Culver.

Who Makes Claim Against Railroad?

Grain Dealers Journal: The writer wishes to take issue with your editorial writer in his article on page 1157 of your December 25, 1920 number, relative to the effect that the McCaull-Dinsmore Companys' decision will have on grain shippers who have a loss in transit.

Supposedly the writer of that article was familiar with the grain trade, but there are several things in this article which he seems to have overlooked, and the main point is this: The terms of his contract. Grain is never sold for shipment or delivery at some indefinite time. Your contention would be correct if that were true, but if we sell grain for delivery at Galveston, or some other place, for shipment within thirty days and that time of shipment expires on January 15, and we are not notified of the loss or do not discover the loss until January 20, or maybe a month later and the market is fifteen or twenty cents lower, it is hardly probable that the receiver will allow us to substitute something else on the contract.

On the other hand, if the market is ten or fifteen cents higher, naturally, we get an extension or are compelled to pay the market difference for our shortage on contract.

Right at the moment we are interested in a proposition of this kind. We bought a car of wheat off the sample tables of the Wichita Board of Trade, based on Wichita grades, destination weights. Our contracts are uniform in as much as they contain the clause substantially as follows: "This contract is not complete until the grain reaches destination, is weighed, graded and accepted."

Spot trading, which this was, is covered by a rule of the Wichita Board of Trade, which provides that the particular grain bought is the only grain that is applicable on the contract. In this case the only thing between us was the weight upon which we were to settle, provided the grain bought was delivered at destination.

We diverted the car out of here, which is permissible under our rules, and some twenty or thirty days later we were notified by the railroad company that the car had been wrecked and entirely destroyed, and that they were ready to entertain a claim for the loss in transit. Applying the rule of the Wichita Board of Trade, the party from whom we bought could not apply any other car on the contract and this car or contents never reached destination. The contract was never filled, so we were clearly within our rights in turning the lading back to the party from whom we bought.

Now, he had this car sold to us at a specific price for all the grain that the railroad company delivered, but, as they did not deliver any, the whole thing reverted back to him. His claim was filed basis the actual sale price to us, or the actual dollars and cents he would have received from us had the contents of this car reached destination and been weighed. The claim agent promptly comes back with the statement based upon the so-called McCaull-Dinsmore decision, stating that the car should have reasonably been delivered to the billed destination within a certain number of days; that a fair market price for that class of wheat under the date that it reasonably should have been delivered was a specific price. This, however, about thirty cents per bushel less than he would have received for it regardless of what the market may have been at the time it reached destination, had they taken it through as contracted.

Now, the question that we would like to have you to answer, is who is going to make up to this shipper the $400.00 or $500.00 between the actual value of his wheat, as sold to us, and the price that the railroad people say it was reasonably worth at destination. If you will just make this clear to us, we are satisfied that you will be conferring a favor on the shipping public. We are ready to concede that if we should sell grain at so much delivered Kansas City, Chicago or any other market by a certain time and it should be wrecked or destroyed in transit and we were notified before the expiration of our contract, so that we could go into the open market and buy something that would apply on our contract there would be nothing wrong with your contention, but that is something that does not happen one time in one thousand, in the case of these loss in transit claims. There is just one equitable way to settle these claims, and that is to pay the actual loser the amount of his loss, whether the grain be sold at more than the market value at the time of the arrival at destination or sold for less.—Warwick Grain Co., Wichita, Kan.

Ans.: As provided by the common law, and as confirmed by the McCaull-Dinsmore decision the true measure of the carrier's liability is the value of the grain at destination at the time the shipment should have been delivered. The carrier is not concerned with the terms of the contract between buyer and seller, except as the contract defines the owner, who alone has the right to recover the damages from the carrier.

The true ownership of the carload in question is a matter of doubt. Insertion into the contract of the clause that the sale is not complete until the grain reaches destination, is weighed, graded and accepted, is an attempt to make it what is known as an "executory contract of sale," under which title does not pass as long as something remains to be done, in this case weighing. From that point of view the Warwick Grain Co. could call the deal off and leave the seller to try to recover from the carrier.

But the diversion of the carload by the Warwick Grain Co., was an exercise of the rights of an owner. It thereby brot the carload under its own dominion and control to an extent that would warrant a court of law in holding the Warwick Grain Co. responsible, especially if the loss of the car occurred after the Warwick Grain Co. had taken control of the routing or disposition. Moreover, the railroad company in accepting the Warwick Grain Co.'s order for diversion must have recognized it as the owner by reason of possession of the documents.

Presumably, this carload had already arrived at Wichita, had been sampled there, and in the ordinary course would have been weighed there and all responsibility of the seller would have ended. Apparently the Warwick Grain Co. prevented this prompt local weighing and unloading into an elevator and for purposes of its own diverted the shipment to a new destination, handling the shipment in every way as if it was the owner and expecting to retain for itself the profits of such handling and diversion.

Furthermore, if this shipment was sold for the country shipper by a commission merchant on the Wichita Board of Trade, sale was presumably on Wichita grades and weights, and if the shipper said nothing about the weights the receiver would have no authority to sell on weights at some market beyond. Such authority could only be derived by showing a rule or practice known to and acquiesced in by the country shipper.

Allowing a buyer to play for profits to himself with the property of a shipper at the risk of the shipper is contrary to public policy. It seems clear that the Warwick Grain Co.

owes the country shipper the amount agreed upon when the sample was sold on the floor of the Board of Trade. The Warwick Grain Co. loses nothing, as in turn it has the right under its contract with the buyer at Galveston to tender a car bot in and preserving all the billing advantages of the car originally sold, if the buyer on request declined to allow the drop in the market when canceling. If the Warwick Grain Co. allowed the Galveston buyer to cancel without getting the market difference it threw away good money.

Why Did Grain Prices Drop 75 Per Cent?

Grain Dealers Journal: We have stood so many slaps lately that the one administered thru your columns by Mr. McGonagle doesn't hurt a bit. We are undoubtedly far newer in the grain business than Mr. McGonagle, but at that we have a right to our own opinion, and his letter has not changed it—not very much, at least. We always like to discuss matters like this with others older and more experienced than ourself, and are willing to sit back and listen, and if possible, learn something from the other fellow.

But right now we'll bite: What was the reason for the great decline in grain prices? We haven't read the report of the Federal Trade Commission, and we want to know. We want to know why the farmer's commodities dropped about three-fourths in price, while the prices on other things have been declining very gradually. Why should the farmer stand all this loss in three months that other lines will spread over three years?

At the present rate of decline, it seems to us, tho we are no statistician, that the things the farmer buys will take about three years to come down to so-called "pre-war" prices, while today the farmer is offered less than the "pre-war" price for his grain. Now we are ready for that "kindergarten course in economics." Please tell us why. We are willing to confess our ignorance.

Yes, we took a rap at "short selling" on the Board of Trade, and we still think we were right. We are not any too well versed in Board of Trade doings either, but here is our idea. Except for hedging deals, if you buy on the Board, you bet the fellow who sells to you that the market is going up, and he bets that it is going down; that is, unless he is hedging. If you sell short, your position is just reversed. If that isn't gambling, what is?

An article in a well-known magazine not long ago stated that the Board of Trade was just like a poker game, except that you sometimes knew with whom you were playing in the poker game, and on the Board you didn't know your opponent. Now these statements except all hedging deals, and all deals in which the buyer expects to call for delivery and the seller has something to sell. Of course, we all "sell short" in some way sometimes, but we don't do it to the extent that those who "buck the Board" do. Senator Capper (the bone of contention), says that the 1920 corn crop was bought and sold on the Chicago Board of Trade fourteen times before a single kernel was delivered. Is that legitimate business? And Senator Capper knows what he is talking about.

We are not in the market at all except to lose a bunch on cash corn like a lot of our neighbors did, but possibly if we had been "in on the right side" we could feel better too. But we still feel that the farmer has a kick coming.

One thing more about the Board of Trade. We are at the present time advising our customers to sell their corn, and buy back on the Board. This is a rank speculation, but we tell them they won't have to stand any shrink nor pay any insurance, and that 1000 bushels of May corn is 1000 bushels, but that 1000 bushels of corn in the crib now is 925 bushels next May. Do you think we are right?

We have also advised feeders around here to make use of the future markets in order to insure the prices of the feed they use, but that is a hedge.

We don't like to be called a "calamity howler," and we surely feel that there are better times ahead, but we do still feel sorry for some of the farmers who are "getting theirs" this year, and Mr. McGonagle's letter doesn't change our feelings toward them a bit.

We, also happen to know of a few landlords who are closing out their tenants this year, as well as a very, very few who are helping their tenants out. We know of one, especially, who has money to loan, who forced his tenant to pay up on the first of the year, and this landlord is a farmer himself.

We want to hear more of Mr. McGonagle's argument against Senator Capper's proposition, and we want to get the full benefit of that "kindergarten course in economics."—Sergeant Bluff Farmers Elevator Co., Per "Calamity Howler," Sergeant Bluff, Ia.

The McCaull-Dinsmore Decision?

Grain Dealers Journal: In the Dec. 25 issue of the Grain Dealers Journal, page 1157, column 2, you refer to "The McCaull-Dinsmore Decision." I am not familiar with this decision but from the short article referred to I have reached the conclusion that it refers to railroads being required to settle claims for loss in transit at price at the time car reached destination. If this is true I wish you would kindly give us more information in regard to this matter.—E. C. Douglas, mgr. Gulf Grain Co., Houston, Tex.

Ans.: The McCaull-Dinsmore decision knocked out the fine print on the back of the B/L fixing damages on the basis of the invoice value of the property damaged or lost at the time and place of origin; and made the value at destination the true measure of damages, as it always was under the common law. The shipper's loss is what he would have received for the property at destination, less freight. The fact that he may have bot the property for a song before loading it for shipment does not minimize the shipper's recovery, as whatever profit there may be in doing a grain business belongs to the shipper, not the carrier.

This decision was published in full in the Grain Dealers Journal for June 25, 1920, page 1173. Being a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States the railroads have no appeal.

Non Freezing Mixture for Gasoline Engine?

Grain Dealers Journal: In a recent issue of the Journal it was stated that if calcium chloride is used in the water tank of an engine draining the tank will not be necessary no matter how cold the weather becomes.

I would like very much to avoid draining my engine and I would like to know how much calcium chloride to put in my water tank which is 7 feet high, has a diameter of 2½ feet and contains approximately 20 barrels of water.

I should think this mixture would be good for use in an automobile radiator in the winter time.—Stanley Jackson, mgr. Independent Elevator Co., Barney, N. D.

Ans.: This tank, which holds approximately 250 gallons, will require the addition of 950 lbs. of calcium chloride to keep it from freezing at all temperatures above 31 degrees below zero.

The quantity of calcium chloride required for each fifty gallons of water to prevent freezing at various temperatures is shown in the table below:

75 lbs.	.....	+18° F.
90 lbs.	.....	+13° F.
110 lbs.	.....	+7° F.
125 lbs.	.....	Zero F.
150 lbs.	.....	-8° F.
170 lbs.	.....	-19° F.
190 lbs.	.....	-32° F.
200 lbs.	.....	-39° F.

ANY ADDITIONAL TAXES which may be imposed on grain exported from Argentine will have to be paid by the foreign buyer is the decision of the Argentine exporters. Sales are now being made with this understanding.

Unnecessary Menace and Restriction of Business.

Grain Dealers Journal: On account of the 40% increase of freight, recently approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission business has been restricted to small mileage or zones. We speak in particular of the handling of hay and alfalfa.

Our principal outlet, and in fact, all of the central western states, is the South. The rate of freight from the alfalfa states has bottled up the crop and it will continue to lay out in the fields until some relief is offered. Even with the recent reduction to Mississippi River points the rate on this commodity is too high. When transportation charges reaches a point of cost equal to two-thirds the value of the commodity shipped it seems to us it is time to take notice.

The present cost of transportation on a ton of hay in car lots from northern Indiana points to Athens, Ga., is as follows: Freight and tax per ton from Edgerton, Ohio, and Grabill, Indiana, is 28c per cwt. To Cincinnati, 42½c from Cincinnati to Athens, Ga., making a thru rate of 70½c.

Per ton including tax.
This gives us a freight charge of...$14.50
Cost of baling and loading..... 6.50
Commission and handling charge..... 1.50

Today No. 1 timothy is selling at $35.00 per ton, delivered basis, Athens, Ga. This nets the producer $12.50 per ton for the best hay produced. Grain is on a parity with hay. We are quite sure the Railway Companies never expected 40% increase to be granted and would have been perfectly satisfied with less than half this increase.

If we understand the duty of the I. C. C., it is to see that justice and equity is meted out to all concerned. It is true Railway Companies must be protected with just and equitable freight charges which produces sufficient revenue to pay current expenses and reasonable dividends on investments. It would seem to us that the 40% increase was not warranted and has virtually restricted commerce until there is no business to be had, with little or no bright spots in the future. It is only a question of time until the carriers will voluntarily ask that the rates previous to the 40% increase be put back. This will be necessary in order to keep the rolling stock earning sufficient revenue to meet current expenses.

The public has assumed the attitude of organized labor and is now verging on a STRIKE. In unity there is strength.

Hay should be accorded the same privileges as grain as it is essential to animal sustenance. However, the carriers have taken great pleasure in taking a rap at hay in the matter of reconsigning and diversion charges. We are now being charged $3.00 to move a car of hay after it arrives in the terminal yards to the carrier's team track or privately owned siding. This occurs in terminal markets governed by Board of Trade rules, but there is no such charge as this assessed against shipments of hay to points not so governed and controlled, altho cars would have to be cut out, switched and set to team tracks or privately owned sidings. We firmly believe this charge is an illegal discrimination.

A ruling was recently sanctioned by the Interstate Commerce Commission governing hay running into Louisville whereby a charge of $3.00 was assessed for holding a car for inspection. Evidently the carriers were aware of the fact there was no state law governing the inspection of hay and cast about to get a line on some imaginary omission of state laws whereby they could bring this charge before the Commission and have it sanctioned and approved. We complained to the I. C. C. with reference to this charge, and all that was done in the matter was to change the wording from "hold for inspection" to "reconsigning or diversion charge" and still grabbed off our money. To us it would appear all the carriers need to do is to go before the Commission and present something in the way of diversion, reconsigning, or holding charge and it is sanctioned.

These charges are most disastrous to business from the simple fact they are not definite and fixed. Firms owning sidings are free from these charges. Yet, the carriers perform the same amount of service. If the reconsigning and diversion charge is justly due the carriers it should be assessed on each and every car of any commodity transported over their rails to any point in any city, and not against terminal market points only.

We take it for granted those who read this item know what a boomerang is. This will be the ultimate outcome of these recently granted increases, and diversion or reconsigning charges. The thing is so bad it will undo itself. All we need to do is to assume the attitude of watchful waiting.—Kendrick & Sloan Co., Inc., Indianapolis.

Insuring Grain "Held in Trust."

Grain Dealers Journal: The United States Supreme Court in the case of the Home Insurance Co. v. Baltimore Warehouse Co., held that where the warehouseman had stamped on the warehouse receipts, that it would not be liable for any loss by fire; this did not preclude him from obtaining insurance for the benefit of the bailor but that the court looked to the policy and where it contained "held in trust" or similar terms, this showed the intention of the warehouse company to carry insurance for the benefit of the bailors who stored goods with it, and this too, notwithstanding the fact that no arrangement had been made with the bailors to carry insurance for them. This decision has been followed by all of the courts that I know anything about.

You will therefore, see that the words "held in trust," "for account of whom it may concern" and similar terms used in the policies of fire insurance companies issued to a warehouse man is a very dangerous clause for the warehouseman but agents invariably use these terms in issuing such policies. The fact that very little litigation has been had concerning the rights of bailors to claim a portion of the bailee's insurance is no evidence that it will not be done in future cases, and the reason that such claims have not been made heretofore to any great extent is that bailors were ignorant of such rights. For instance, there is about one million of insurance tied up in the loss of the Green River Distilling Co., by reason of these dangerous clauses in their policies.—Thrasher Hall, mgr., Michigan Dept., Underwriters Adjusting Co., Detroit, Mich.

The things we seek are always attracted to us by the force of our own magnetic expectation.

If we are seeking and expecting people to despise and cheat us, we shall not be disappointed, for we are creating the atmosphere which attracts that quality of treatment.

If we are seeking and expecting courtesy and kindness from people, it will most surely gravitate to us from every side, for we are radiating the soul shine which draws to us the force of love and kindness, and no other sort of quality can abide either in our presence or in our mental atmosphere.—Grace M. Brown.

To fill the unexpired term of his predecessor who resigned the directors of the Denver Grain Exchange Ass'n recently elected W. H. Wierman pres., his successful administration of the same office during 1919 having prompted the directors to again confer the honor upon him.

Mr. Wierman has been in the grain business in Illinois and in Oregon and Washington and is now pres. of the Summit Grain & Coal Co., of Denver. With a broad experience and as an aggressive man several progressive movements have been started under his direction. The grain business at Denver is rapidly increasing, and the Exchange handled more cars of grain in December, 1920, than in any other month of its existence.

W. H. Wierman, Denver, Colo.
President Grain Exchange.

To be happy, scatter sunshine.
To succeed, serve others.

No Reconsignment Charge on Grain Held for Inspection.

The Supreme Court of Minnesota on Dec. 3, 1920, gave judgment in favor of plaintiff Merchants Elevator Co., of Minneapolis, Minn., against defendant Great Northern Ry. Co., in its suit to recover the charge of $5 per car on 16 cars of corn shipped from Omaha, Neb., over the G. N. to Willmar, Minn., an official sampling and inspection point.

After getting the official grade plaintiff reconsigning the cars to Anoka, Minn. Defendant contended that the charge was authorized by the following rule:

"Rule 10. Diversion or Reconsignment to Points Outside Switching Limits Before Placement.—If a car is diverted, reconsigned or reforwarded on orders placed with local freight agent or other designated officer after arrival of car at original destination, but before placement for unloading, or if the original destination is served by a terminal yard, then after arrival at such terminal yard, a charge of $5.00 per car will be made if car is diverted, reconsigned or reforwarded to a point outside of switching limits of original destination."

Plaintiff contended that this case came within the exception:

"(a) Grain, seed (field), seed (grass), hay or straw, carloads, held in cars on track for inspection and disposition orders incident thereto at billed destination or at point intermediate thereto."

The court said: We construe the exception to mean that cars of grain are exempted from rule 10, if held on track at billed destination for inspection and for disposition orders incident to such inspection, and that the "disposition order" may be an order to make disposition by way of reconsignment to another destination. This seems to us the fair meaning of the language. The purpose doubtless is to permit inspection of grain at inspection points for the purpose of determining the ultimate market, and then to dispose of the shipment by reconsignment to such market without extra charge.

It follows that the exaction of the $5 reconsignment charge was improper.—180 N. W. Rep 105.

Kindness.

One never knows
How far a word of kindness goes.
One never sees
How far the smile of friendship flees
Down through the years
The deed forgotten reappears.

One kindly word
The soul of many here has stirred
Man goes his way
And tells with every passing day
Until life's end:
"Once unto me he played the friend."

We can not say
What lips are praising us today.
We can not tell
Whose prayers ask God to guard us well
But kindness lives
Beyond the memory of him who gives.
—Edgar A. Guest.

Mission Hill, S. D., Jan. 7.—Very little grain moving to market. Most farmers seem to think prices will be better later on. We hope so as the prices now are working a hardship on the renter.—Fullerville Grain Co.

TEXAS.

Edinburg, Tex., Jan. 12.—There is very little corn being held here for higher prices, only about 5,000 bus. All grain offered can be handled by us. Most farmers will sell corn at $1.25 to $1.40 per bu.—T. J. Smith, Edinburg Equity Union.

Galveston, Tex.—Exports of wheat from this port during December amounted to 5,494,000 bus., compared with exports during December, 1919, of 1,600,000 bus. Last year in December no corn cleared from the port while this year in December 14,500 was cleared. No rye was shipped from the port during December, 1919, while this year in December the exports totaled 171,400 bus.—H. A. Wickstrom, chief inspector.

WISCONSIN.

Taylor, Wis., Jan. 11.—Farmers grinding and feeding grain on account of low prices.—M. Overby, mgr. Overby & Farmers Grain Co.

ADVICES from Washington are that hearings on changes in the farm tariff bill will be held as late as February sixteenth, and as the provisions of the bill are not expected to become effective until some 90 days later, even though the bill should become a law, the results could scarcely affect this year's crop to any extent.—L. L. Winters.

40,000 Bu. Concrete Elevator at De Smet, S. D.

De Smet, the progressive county seat of Kingsbury County is one of the best towns on the C. & N. W. Ry., in South Dakota. This is the natural location for a modern fireproof elevator.

The accompanying illustrations set off very well a plant, every inch an elevator built for the Farmers Co-operative Assn. of De Smet, by the Younglove Construction Co. The practical simplicity of the building is apparent at first glance. Every cubic foot of concrete has a purpose to serve and every foot of space is utilized. There is not enuf wood in the whole structure to make a good bonfire, in fact, it is a A No. 1 fireproof elevator.

This is the second time that the Younglove Construction Co. has had the privilege of putting the Farmers Co-operative Assn back into business after being burned out. The old elevator was built in 1914, a good house and its loss was not at all desired. Unless wrecked by man the present elevator is built to stay.

The plant consists of the main elevator, containing 15 hoppers bins, and covering a space on the ground 48 by 25 feet three inches, dump shed, 40 ft. long and 13 ft. inside width, and adjacent to this the office 23 by 30 ft. The building was laid out to be built about the old vault, the only portion of the old house left standing. This worked out very nicely.

The elevator basement is 13 by 23 ft. in the clear and 17 ft below the work floor. It consists of guaranteed waterproof reinforced concrete pit. No artificial light is needed here in the day time. The basement is reached by a steel ladder at either end of the work floor or by the Union Iron Works manlift, which runs from basement to distributor floor. The basement contains the three steel boots of the three 2000 bushel steel legs, made up of 9x5 "V" cups, their three serving hoppers, and the combined clean grain and screenings hopper hung from the work floor to serve the cleaner. The clean grain can be elevated by any leg thru the operation of a turnhead. A double system of spouting makes it possible to ship out or transfer grain from any of the deep bins thru legs at either end of the basement. This arrangement expedites the handling of grain from every bin.

Grain is received from wagons and trucks over a 26 ft ten ton Howe dump scale and dumped by means of a Globe Combination dump. The air compressor for the dump and the three horse power motor for driving it are placed in the basement of the office where they are always kept clean and dry. An automatic switch controls the compressor, and keeps the pressure constant in the air tank. The grain is received into either of two concrete hoppers thru a Strong Scott adjustable all steel dump grate, and admitted to boot from pit by a gate operated from working floor. Access to each pit is thru a trap door, a steel ladder being provided.

On the spacious work floor, 14 ft wide and 14 ft. high, is installed a dual No. 60 cleaner, direct driven by a 7½ H. P. motor. The main walls of the building extend 70' above the foundation slab.

The cupola is 18x24 ft., six inches high and the full length of the building. In the top story of the cupola are installed the three ten horse power motors for driving the legs. All motors are Fairbanks, Morse make. Link Belt silent chains help greatly in making a compact installation. A Union Iron Works, 36x8 Suction Fan for each leg reduces the dust in the cupola to a minimum. The great advantage of the Gerber triple distributor is plainly apparent in this building. The spouting is made easy and accurate, and much economy of building space is possible with it. Grain is delivered thru it to fifteen bins, and the automatic scale with one set of spouts from three legs. The 2250 bu. Richardson automatic scale is installed on the floor of the spout story and delivers grain to the car thru an 8" Gerber direct loading spout.

The elevator was designed for a capacity of 35,000 bus., but with a little scooping it will easily hold 40,000 bu.

The office is modern and very handsome, but even so, was not built for show, but for the work room of a very busy manager. This is entirely fireproof, as is the rest of the building. North of the vault is a testing and sample room about 4x12 ft. South of the vault is the dump scale office about 10x12 ft., west of this is the customer's office, about 12x14 ft. North of the vault is a small wash room, and west of the vault and opening into it is the private office, about 12x12 ft. This is where the brains of the institution are housed. Mr. E. N. Morgan is manager of the Farmers' Co-operative Assn., by title. His daughter, who occupies this private office is manager by deed. In this room also is the beam of the 9x18' Howe ten ton truck scale, for handling the large coal business of the Company.

The office has a full basement, containing the furnace, coal room and air compressing equipment. And last, but very important, the bright and cheery directors' den, a room about 14x16 ft., provided with roll top desk and large table. From the basement a door leads to the space under the dump scale. Here there is plenty of head room and lots of light. Scales are important enuf to be well housed. A skylight directly over the dump scale window serves its purpose well.

Concrete material from a local pit was used for the work. Very good time was made in the construction work. Grain was taken in less than ninety days after the work was started. The walls were poured with wooden sliding forms. The untouched photographs show for themselves the smooth jointless monolithic walls that result. Real monolithic walls are said to be built with sliding forms—six and seven inches of solid stone from slab to roof. There is no chance for leaks or wear in such a wall.

When the Ass'n's plant burned the owners desired to replace it with the best money could buy that would fill its needs. The elevator is lighted everywhere with electric lights, a powerful light on the top of the flag pole is a great assistance when it is necessary to work late hours. All electric wires are inclosed in conduit buried in the concrete, no wires are visible.

Mr. E. E. Belzer is President of the Com pany. Mr. Ed. Morgan has been the efficient manager for several years. The machinery not before mentioned for this plant was furnished by Strong Scott Mfg. Co. The Younglove Construction Co., are the designers and builders.

OWING to business conditions the mid-winter meeting of the Michigan Hay & Grain Ass'n has been cancelled.

WHEAT EXPORTS continue heavy. It shows the business reported sometime ago was not exaggerated. Foreigners are still buying, but no telling how long they will keep it up. Everything depends upon their wants and Argentine offerings. They might drop out any moment and the market would feel it, unless, of course the domestic demand improved. There are signs of the latter right now. Flour business is picking up a little. Statistics on wheat are "bullish," but one can't always bank on statistics, especially this year with the flour carry-over no doubt bigger than expected, and the Canadian imports wheat and flour rather heavy. The market is just as apt to decline, in our opinion, as to advance.—J. F. Zahm & Co.

Government Scale.

It is high time for the country dealers to start a campaign against the government scale, between grades. We should get back to the old scale of discounts before the new crop year, and if all dealers when writing their commission men will protest against the government scale, we will succeed in having same discontinued by July 1st, 1921. There was really no good reason for the government adopting this scale, as it was solely in the interest of the terminal elevators.—Secy. E. J. Smiley, Topeka, Kan.

Australia's Wheat Pools.

During the war the wheat crop of Australia was controlled by government pools in the various provinces. In each province was established a fixed guaranty for wheat. The producer was guaranteed this amount, paid advances and the wheat was taken over by the government.

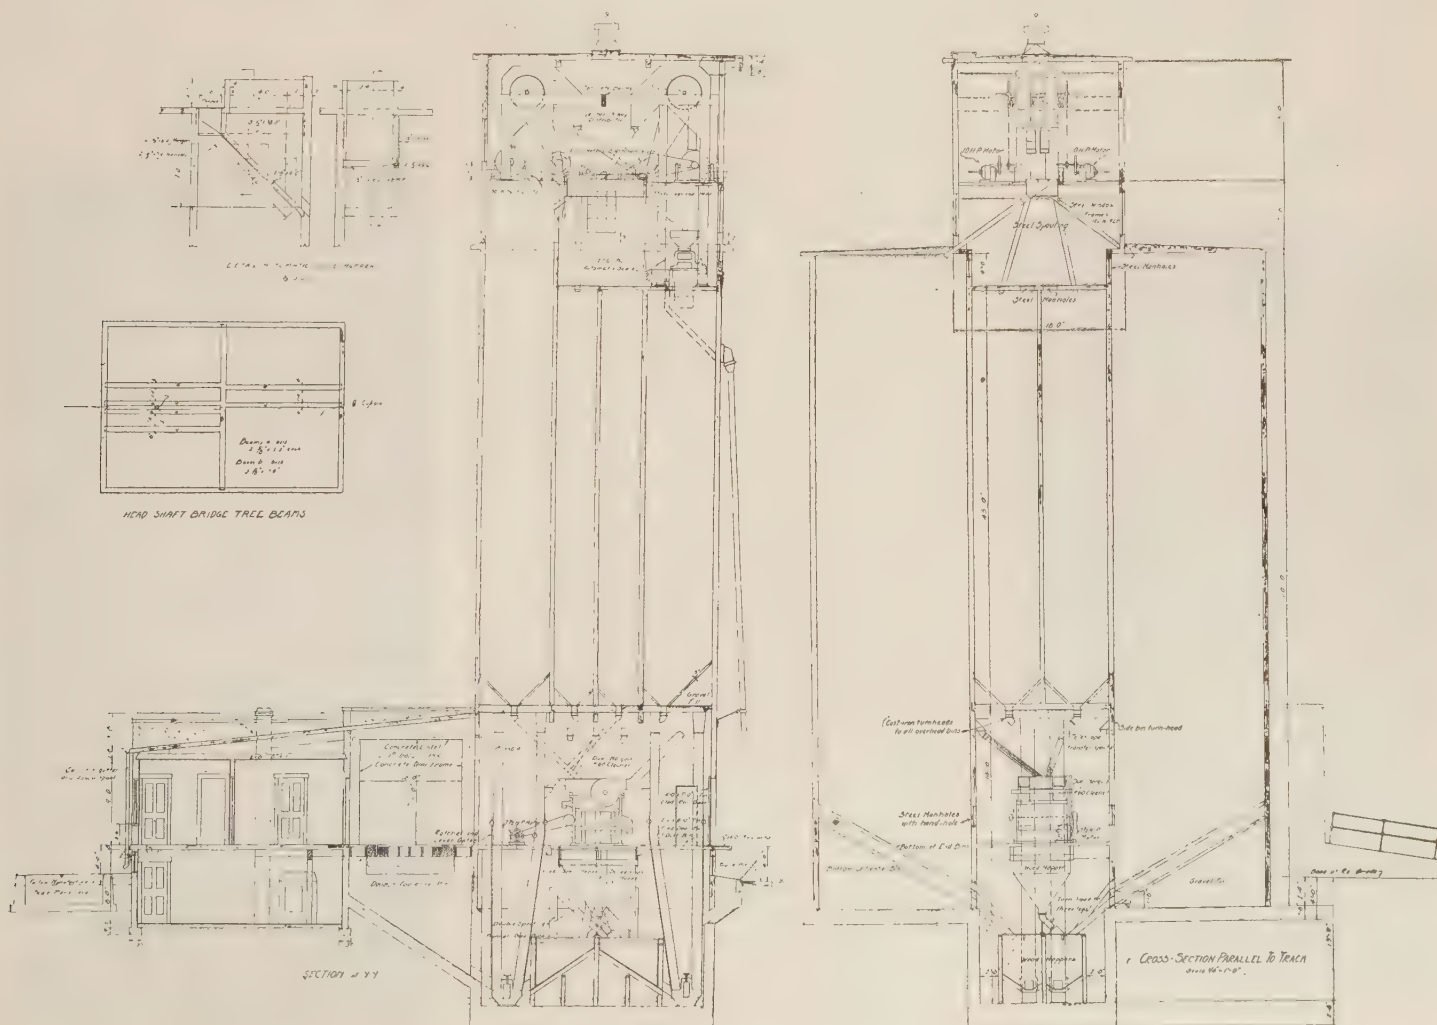

The guaranty varied slightly in the various provinces. In the province of Victoria farmers in 1919 were guaranteed approximately 95 cents per bushel while in 1920 the guarantee was increased to $1.20.

Since the pools were started in the 1915-16 season they have received over 470,000,000 bushels of wheat. Of this amount 60,000,000 bus. still remain in the warehouses of the British Imperial Wheat Board or in the wheat pool warehouses.

During the period which the government held this wheat it suffered considerable damage by becoming infected with weevil as well as being eaten by rats and mice. Installation of cleaning machinery in the various warehouses in 1919 enabled the wheat to be thoroly cleaned and kept free from weevil. England has been a large purchaser of Australian wheat and Australia expects that much of the present surplus will be absorbed by that country.

Considerable dissatisfaction has been expressed over the federal handling of grain in Australia. The growers are bitter in many cases because when the Canadian producer was receiving $2.62 and the New Zealand grower $2.36 for their wheat at a time when the wheat pool paid the Australian producer only $1.72 per bushel.

ARGENTINE'S wheat surtax placed on export wheat has been removed according to a cable report received by the Dominion Department of Trade & Commerce.

The Farmers' Strike

Not Many Farmers Holding.

Beans Creek, Tenn.—The farmers strike does not exist here. All grain being offered is taken by us. It is moving normally and not many are holding.—J. C. Brudin.

Holding 25% of the Wheat.

Burrton, Kans., Jan. 3.—The farmers' strike is a reality in this section. Most of the wheat was marketed before the farmers organized, at least 75% of it, so there is but 25% wheat held by farmers. They are holding practically all of the corn. While we are in a position to accept all grain, we receive very little. A few farmers would accept $2.25 per bu. basis Kansas City, but the majority are holding for $2.50 per bu. wheat basis Kansas City.—D. T. Davis, agt. Halstead Milling & Elvtr. Co.

Will Not Hold Much Longer.

Beardsley, Minn.—The strike is on and farmers are sticking to it pretty hard, but don't think it will last much longer with most of them. We have taken all grains that have been offered so far. I would say there is 25,000 bu. wheat, 40,000 bu. barley, 25,000 bu. oats and 30,000 bu. corn still to be marketed. I think $2.00 would move wheat, 75c barley, 45c oats and 60c per bu. corn. Most will accept the above prices but, of course, there are a few who will not.—C. A. Dittes, Dittes Bros.

Opposed to Artificial Prices for Farm Produce.

Gardner, N. Dak., Jan. 1.—The farmers' strike is a reality with those who held their grain. Some were satisfied with $2.30 to $2.50 per bu. and sold their wheat. We are in position to take in all kinds of grain, and the roads have been good. The amount of grain in farmers' hands is hard to estimate; it may be anywhere from 30 to 60%. As to the price, the holders want, it will be about 50 cts. to a dollar more than the price they get, whatever that price happens to be. It appears that they have got the lawmakers at Washington trying to create an artificial price for the farmers' produce. How about the salaried man? We have been struggling along with the high cost of living for years, hoping that in time things would get back to normal, or near it. When it looks like better times ahead, why the lawmakers are trying to create artificial prices for the necessity of life. It does not appeal to us, in fact we feel like taking a club to them. We have been suffering in silence, but there is a limit.—Andrew Bradsteen.

Victor Dewein of the Dewein-Hamman Co., Decatur, Ill.

Holding Back the Usual Amount.

Tuttle, Okla., Jan. 1.—About the usual amount of grain is being held. Usually the wealthy farmers hold for spring prices, both wheat and corn, which should be marketed in twelve months instead of three. About 8% of wheat and 65% of corn remains on farms. We have bot 64,000 bus. corn and 35,000 bus. wheat this season with three elevators in our town. The holders of wheat want $2.00 to $2.50 per bu. and want to see prospects for another crop before selling corn. We are in a position to handle grain and are running 10 to 12 hours per day.—W. W. Clark, mgr. Farmers Exch. Elvtr.

Striking for $3.00 per Bushel.

Lithium, Mo., Jan. 4.—The farmers are on a strike here. It is no propaganda. They are going to cut production 50% and are holding all their wheat at present. They will sell for $3.00 per bu. I praise them for holding out for their rights and they will do it by making grain scarce and high. It is time for the farmer to protect himself and no other way is known than that above. All past legislation is against him. Another year like 1920 will bankrupt 75% of the wheat and corn farmers and 90% of the stock men. It is to be hoped they will make food so scarce and high that financiers and big business men will notice it when they are at the mill and meat shop.—A. J. Graff.

Mostly Low Grade Wheat.

Milan, Minn., Jan. 6.—The so-called farmers strike has been in existence here for some time and still remains to be a reality. Whatever the other conditions are, I know it to be a fact that better prices would move the grain more quickly than anything else. We have mostly low grade wheat around here and now pay about $1.40 per bu. for it. If we could pay somewhere around $1.75 per bu. it would come in fast. I am in a position to accept all the grain being offered. There is about 65% of the wheat still in farmers hands, practically no corn has been marketed and oats still has 50% to be marketed. Rye and barley have been pretty well marketed.—O. G. Moen, mgr. Columbia Elvtr. Co.

No Demand for Grain.

Rupert, Ida., Dec. 31.—There is no evidence of a strike on the part of the farmers here. Some are holding back wheat because they anticipate a more favorable market, but it is in no sense a co-operative movement. We are not buying all the wheat offered, altho little is being offered. Most of the wheat in this section has been put on the market. The only thing retarding the marketing of grain here is the lack of demand on the part of buyers and the additional factor of very low prices on all kinds of grain. This section produces only a small amount of oats and barley and at the present time we have nothing but local outlet.—Rupert Seed & Milling Co., by F. N. Victor.

Shut Elevator in September.

McGuffey, O., Jan. 1.—So far as this section is concerned the "farmers' strike" is not in evidence. We shut down our plant in September and have not bought any grain since. We were much more interested in other lines. The uncertain condition of the market at the time and also because of the car situation we did not want much grain on hand on a falling market. Hence the shutdown. We may reopen this plant about February if corn gets in a condition to shell properly, otherwise will not open until corn does get in condition. We have room to take on more grain, but so far as wheat, oats and rye are concerned there is very little to be had in this section. There is some inquiry as to when we are going to begin buying again and no doubt we could get quite a lot of corn, but under present conditions do not want it. Personally would be glad to see the markets advance so as to unload what grain we have on hand. It looks to us as tho the grain market has been depressed more than conditions warrant, but no "farmers' strike" will change the condition much, if any, and for any group of farmers to try to raise prices by such methods will not get them any results that they can notice.—W. C. McGuffey.

Thurman E. Hamman of the Dewein-Hamman Co., Decatur, Ill.

Holding Grain Long as Possible.

Penfield, Ill., Jan. 1.—There is no strike among farmers as far as organization is concerned, but each farmer is holding his grain as long as possible. Farmers are going to lose thousands of dollars on this crop so they cannot be blamed for trying to get as much as possible. It would take about 80c per bu. on corn for them to break even. We believe that 60c per bu. to the farmer would move quite an amount of corn, altho most of them want from 75c to $1.00 per bu. About 50% of oats crop and about 80% of corn is still in hands of farmers.—Penfield Grain & Coal Co.

D. M. Cash of the Dewein-Hamman Co., Decatur, Ill.

Indiana Grain Dealers Hold Splendid Meeting

The annual meeting of the Indiana Grain Dealers Ass'n was called to order in the Palm Room of the Claypool Hotel, at 2 p. m., Jan. 20, by Pres. H. W. Reimann of Shelbyville. Pres. Reimann read his annual address, which follows:

President's Address.

It is indeed a pleasure to serve at the head of an organization whose members are willing at all times to do their bit, whether it be for the good of the association or any other worthy enterprise.

The past year has indeed been one of ups and downs for the grain trade and for business in general. During the first six months prices advanced or were at least stationary, while during the last half of the year it has been one continuous procession of downward prices and especially so the last three months. Profits that were available during the first half of the year were quickly brushed aside during the latter half and in almost every instance the loss was greater than the gain.

It is not my desire to remind you of the many unpleasant business transactions you have participated in during the past year, but I wish to suggest that whatever your losses and unsatisfactory experiences may have been, forget them one and all (except for the many lessons they may have taught, which will be beneficial in the future) and remember the successes and pleasant experiences. Face the future with a determination to make your business a success, not only financially, but through rendering a desirable service to your many customers.

Personally I feel that the word Service from now on is going to be one of the greatest words in the English language, especially as it pertains to business.

During the past years business has come to all of us. Now we have to go after business and only as we give service will we be able to grasp business. The salesman, who in the past has done a wonderful business, will fail by the wayside, unless he is on the job every minute of the day dispensing service at all times. The opportunity is before us and we can and will put the grain trade on a higher basis than the high one which it has already attained.

We must and should be optimistic and fight the pessimist at all times. Business will come back, and we can assist it by being optimistic, but we can also everlastingly drive it to the lower depths, by spreading all about us the continuous fear of the future. Let us all take our losses and start all over with renewed vigor.

During the past year, first, the railroads were turned back to their rightful owners and the service rendered has speedily improved and we are encouraged to believe that it will continue to improve. The present rates are high and thought by many to be too high. If this be true, it is only a matter of time until an adjustment will be made. For service rendered, they are very cheap compared with what we have recently experienced.

Second: Our grain business has been handed back to us by the government. All restrictions were lifted and we are now permitted to operate as previously. As much as some of us may have resented the restrictions under which we were obliged to operate, I am satisfied that the experience was beneficial to us all. More of us now take into consideration the cost of handling all kinds of grain and our business as a whole is being run on a more systematic basis.

Right here, I wish to call your attention to the resolution passed at the mid-summer meeting, which authorized your board if they deemed it advisable to select a firm to audit the books of the members of the association who desired an audit. This has been done and you will later be addressed by a member of the firm selected. I cannot too earnestly urge that you avail yourselves of this service. The cost is very small as compared with the results obtained.

Not enough of us are taking advantage of the services offered through the Weights and Measures Department of our State. This service of testing our scales has been an indispensable asset of the grain man and has many times kept down the gossip which arises through the comparison of the out-in-the-weather scale with the up-to-date kept-in-the-dry scale. We should stand behind this department and in every way possible assist Mr. Miller, the commissioner of this department, and his associates in getting everything necessary to the accomplishment of their duties. This department should be very highly commended for its splendid and efficient services.

Our membership at present stands at about four hundred. This is far too small. Our Booster drive was fairly successful, but did not result in the increase that your officers had hoped for. Every Indiana grain dealer should be a member and I urge you to assist in getting your neighbors into our association. We expect to put on another drive and hope to get in every grain dealer now outside of our organization.

"If you will work and think and smile,
In Nineteen-Twenty-One
The clouds and storms will drift away
As the mists before the sun."

Pres. Reimann then appointed the following committees:

Resolutions: E. K. Sowash, Middletown; Charles Patten, Morristown, and Charles S. Clark, Chicago, Ill.

Auditing: Frank Witt, Indianapolis; Chester Urmston, Indianapolis, and F. P. McComas, Indianapolis.

Nominating: Charles A. Ashpaugh, Frankfort; H. H. Deam, Bluffton; John T. Higgins, La Fayette; John S. Hazelrigg, Cambridge City, and E. E. Elliott, Muncie.

Secy. Riley then read his annual report, which follows:

Secretary's Report.

Another year has come and gone, and many are glad to forget 1920 as a business year and start with determination to make this year one that will at least, in part, restore the lost capital sustained in 1920.

The Ass'n, like individuals, has had its share of trouble in the matter of keeping in financial standing, as almost all items of expense have increased greatly, some doubled and others increased 25 to 35%.

Membership: We started a year ago to increase our membership and a number of our members entered into the contest and secured a few members. Bert A. Boyd was the successful worker for new members and will enjoy the President's prize offered to the man who secured the greatest number of new members. If all our members would do a little work in bringing in new members, we would soon have one of the strongest Associations in numbers as we are now in association spirit and loyalty to the fraternity.

Arbitration: which is one of the best features of the Ass'n, has been indulged in more during this year than former years. We have had three cases in which the Arbitration Committee was unanimous in decision and two out of the three have settled by paying the award strictly on time. One has so far declined to pay the award and the matter is before the Board of Managers to discipline or expel the refractory members who have so far declined to make the payment which was due Dec. 31st.

Section 13, of the Arbitration Rules, reads "Neglect or refusal to submit a case in controversy to the committee on arbitration, or to comply with the award of the committee, shall be deemed unbusinesslike conduct and the penalty therefor may be a fine, suspension or expulsion, as the Board of Managers may direct."

It would seem that men who wish to do right would find above rule a good one and as the Association can go no further toward a settlement of a controversy, the rule most nearly fitting the case would be employed.

Claim Department: We have not had so many claims to file during the past year as formerly, possibly because our members have had better cars in which to ship and because wheat, which gives rise to the greater losses in transit, has not been shipped in the same quantity this year as formerly. We would like especially to request our members to avail themselves of our Claims Department, many do not file their claims themselves and when filed by others they may be too busy to follow them up. We have been very well treated by a number of the carriers in the matter of handling and paying claims, but this is not the case with all by any means.

Legislation: Our committee on legislation, composed of P. E. Goodrich, James W. Sale and Elmer Hutchinson, have been in consultation with the legislative committee of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Ass'ns on a proposed Pure Seed Bill, which is to be introduced at the session of the General Assembly; other measures will be introduced in which we are now or will be greatly interested and while talking about legislation and the committee's work, I might say that this committee should be financed independent of the general funds of the Ass'n, as the funds are not sufficient to take care of all such outside work. A little from a great many makes a heap for the few.

Farm Bureaus: The interests of the farmer and the grain dealer are mutual in most things and this Ass'n has during its entire history zealously labored with the agricultural interests of the state to promote the cause of agriculture. We have spent hundreds of dollars in an effort to get better grading, better transportation service and rates and in many other ways made that cause the cause of this Ass'n.

We are to have with us a direct representative of the Farmers' Federation, in fact its new Secretary, Senator Maurice Douglass, who is to address us and I am sure our members will find him imbued with a spirit of fairness and capable of doing big things for his people and ready to co-operate with us, and we are sure our people will be ready to join hands with his organization for the accomplishment of mutual, friendly and profitable relations.

Local Meetings: We had quite a number of local meetings during the summer and fall, but the attendance was limited and we have not been encouraged lately by the effort in that direction. Many of our people have failed to make much money this year and some do not see a very bright future before them, hence lax on attendance at the local meetings. It is our personal desire to have as many meetings as possible if the members desire them, so all you have to do is to ask us to make calls for such meetings as you think will be profitable.

Following his report, Mr. Riley said Indiana has 200 grain dealers still eligible for membership in the State Ass'n., and asked all members to get busy.

Bert A. Boyd, Indianapolis, took the prize for bringing in the greatest number of new members during the past year.

The necessity of members abiding strictly to the rules of the ass'n in arbitration cases was fully explained by the Sec'y. He said that one member of the Ass'n consented to arbitration and then refused to accept the decision of the arbitration board.

Bert A. Boyd, treas., in presenting his report said, his figures agreed with the figures read by Sec'y Riley. The report was approved and seconded when Pres. Reimann said he had gone over the figures and found that they agreed. [Laughter.]

C. A. Rouse, Genl. Agt. of the Erie Railroad read a paper on Business Conditions, in which he said:

European Nations owe the United States for money advanced to carry on the war approximately $10,000,000,000.00. This debt is a burden

H. W. Reimann, Shelbyville, Ind.,
Re-elected President.

and a source of anxiety because they do not know how soon a demand may be made for payment or partial payment of the debt. The United States could without financial loss relieve this feeling of anxiety on the part of the nations who owe us money for war purposes and materially assist in restoring the purchasing power of their money, by converting their money debts to us into long time notes. On these notes give them plenty of time with the privilege of an extension of time if necessary and at a low rate of interest.

This idea is not original. I got it from a grain dealer, and I am passing it on to you. Indeed I believe that the Congress of the United States is now negotiating such an arrangement with England, and I believe that business and commercial organizations, including Boards of Trade and grain dealers associations should formally endorse and approve acts of Congress which relate to the converting of war debts into long time notes, with France, Belgium and Italy, as well as with England.

We are all dependent upon one another, and by helping others we help ourselves. We help ourselves by helping to strengthen the European markets. Every man here should go to his home town with the conviction that conditions might be much worse, confident of the financial strength and ability of his country, confident that conditions here will improve.

General Business Conditions and the Grain Dealer was the subject of an encouraging address delivered by Senator Maurice Douglas, sec'y of the Indiana Federation of Farmers Ass'n. His address follows in part:

I am glad to be with the grain dealers today because in my work the men I have consulted most have been the grain dealers.

We feel the farmer and the grain dealer should be closer together, for the farmer strives to produce, while the grain dealer strives to find a market for these products.

The ability of the grain dealer to find the market largely decides the fate of the farmer.

To get these two interests to pull together we should have clear thinking, representative men of both classes in frequent conference. There is unity in organization and in organization there is education.

I doubt if anyone knows anything about these market conditions. It was not long since that shippers actually made money when they could not get cars. The whole economic situation is behind this market condition.

I believe the grain dealer of a community should establish the fact that the world is going on. Farmers' ass'ns as a whole are putting out a little optimism.

If wheat production is cut see what it means to the grain dealer. The grain dealer to combat this should give a little more encouragement to the farmer. I think everything will move with the people's minds.

There are radicals who would wipe the grain dealer off the map. I advise investigation to learn why. Everyone wants a square deal. If you can show that you are giving a square deal you will not have much trouble with the farmer. This will help straighten out your community.

P. E. Goodrich, Winchester, Ind.: I move that we express our appreciation of this splendid talk. Also we ask that the Farmers' Ass'ns call on us at any time.

H. H. Deam, Bluffton: In seconding this motion, will say that the grain dealers feel it necessary that they have the co-operation of the farmers. In the future we hope to have some one from Mr. Douglass' organization with us in our Ass'n meetings. The motion carried unanimously.

M. Duffy, Fowler: There shud be some agitation as to what the farmer should do. One man asked that we extend credit to Europe. I don't want to feed Europe. I don't want to see my neighbors do so either. What we want is a market. We are not told about the sheep for which no market can be found. Then we get a bill to render assistance and Wilson, for whom I voted twice vetoed it. What the farmer needs is immediate help.

Pres. Reimann then threw the meeting open for the discussion of

ARE SIDE LINES PROFITABLE?

P. E. Goodrich: Grain dealers depend for considerable of their profit on side lines. I believe if grain dealers analyze their profits on coal and other side lines they will find that not much is made on coal. In 1916-17-18 we made $1 per ton on coal. We shud make a practice of being careful in booking and make a little more on coal and feed. Few grain dealers are making 50 cents a bbl. on flour. We should equip our elevators for side lines. An elevator without a feed house and a place to handle flour is a back number.

Pres. Reimann: To give service the elevator man must get into the side line business. For illustration, the farmer will get service if he can take back coal and feed when he brings in a load of grain. The grain trade is realizing this more and more. The customers too will save time and money.

P. E. Goodrich: Lumber is not a side line but a real business. I consider side lines feed, flour, seed and coal.

F. P. McComas, Indianapolis: To the question Are side lines profitable? I would answer, yes, sometimes. Most of us have lost on our side lines in the past six months, feed being the most prominent. I would like to read you the following verse:

The Optimistic View

Some days 'r dark, when men are weary
An' all things seem so dull and dreary,
When the weather is soft an' the corn is wet,
It sure does make a brave man sweat.
But tomorrow'll be cold now, what will you bet
Then what's the use to fuss an' fret.
The market is down, the lowest yet,
But it's goin' to be higher, up there in the pit.
The movement is light an' a slow demand,
But it's goin' to get better, we understand.
A load of corn, for a ton of coal,
Why, it's 'nough to try mans soul.
Men 'r walkin' up an' down the town,
To find a job, 'at seldom found,
Money is tight an' hard to git,
Jist watch 'er stick, when she hits the mit,
But what's the use to fuss an' stew,
Jist take the optimistic view.
The elevator man, is one of this brand,
The bitter an' sweet, go hand in hand,

G. W. Rohm, Rockville: Side lines, do they pay? If they did not carry side lines, some elevators would be out of business. What side lines to be carried should be determined by the service already available. I don't think much of having a man enter a business which I am best situated to do. It would be ungrateful if I sold as a side line a product sold already by another. A side line may be all right one place and poor at another place. We have added agricultural implements as a side line. We have no record of our coal operations. Each man is better able for himself to determine what side lines to carry.

H. H. Deam: I never knew the time when the elevator man did not handle side lines. We always handle coal, lime, plaster and cement. We would hardly know how to make ends meet without side lines. Coal made us money this year. Now that the farmers have their automobiles he takes his coal back only when he comes in with horses. Maybe he needs cement to build a hog pen. I recommend that anyone not carrying lumber should not try it. We tried carrying lumber, but have abandoned the practice.

M. Duffy: I handle side lines. I couldn't get coal and could not depend on coal as a side line. I condemn the coal robbers for the way they have treated us and the public. The Ass'n should pass a resolution on this subject.

E. Hutchinson, Arlington: We handle flour as a side line and have found it very satisfactory. I have confined myself to one or two brands of Indiana flour. We can be loyal to our own state and confine ourselves to home mills.

U. Seeger, Marshfield: I am in a part of the state where no side lines are carried. We find that firms carrying side lines pay more for grain and probably are making money on their side lines and not their grain.

Mr. Deam: I wish to emphasize the point brot up that care should be taken in selecting a side line. A dealer should use his head and look around.

A Shipper: We got 10 cents a bushel for grinding feed.

Mr. Deam: We get 7½ cents per bu.

Another Shipper: We only get 7 cents.

E. M. Wassmuth, Huntington: Our town is unfortunate in having too many grain buyers. This cannot be charged to too many side lines. We only handle a limited amount of grain and must handle side lines.

Mr. Davis: I'd like to know whether side lines other than coal are profitable. Actually how much profit is made on coal? What is made on the other lines?

P. E. Goodrich: We average 30 cents a bbl. on flour. We handle no building material. Feed is fairly profitable and allows about $2 per ton profit. We have grinders in all but one elevator. Grain dealers must render a service. If cement or coal is needed, handle it. Grain dealers troubles result largely from not keeping up to date. We have ground thousands of bushels of grain for 5 cents per bag, not bushel. Our returns were not in money.

Mr. Reimann: We bought feed in and sold it off the car. We did not put it in our elevator, but encouraged cash buying from the car.

A flour salesman called on me recently and tried to sell me some flour. He said his price was $10.60 per bbl. I answered that I was selling flour at $10.50. "You must have bot it right," was the suggestion of the salesman.

I answered, "I did—at $13.75 per bbl."

Chas. Sharp, McGrawsville: We have been handling oyster shells by the carload. We also handle flour, feed and tankage. Tankage bought at $115 per ton must now be sold at what we can get. We have all been hit by something.

A receiver: Mr. Sharp also is in the grocery business, sells gasoline, runs a garage, a lumber yard and a coal yard (laughter).

Mr. Davis: Can he segregate his lines enough to tell where he makes a profit?

Secy. Riley: Hardly any two dealers have the same profits on feed. Let each dealer send me his profit margin on feed and I will get it into a bulletin and send it back to every member.

TRADE RULES.

Fred Watkins, Cleveland, O., vice-pres. of the G. D. N. A., then spoke on trade rules. During his questioning of the dealers it was shown that only about six dealers had read the trade rules.

Secy. Riley: The trade rules are published in full in our Indiana list.

Pres. Reimann: Many troubles arise from an ignorance of trade rules. About 90% of the cases brot before arbitration com'tes are the result of loopholes in contracts. If every dealer would pay particular attention to his contract he would eliminate 90% of his troubles.

Representatives of the markets were then called upon to state conditions at their respective markets.

TERMINAL MARKETS

Mr. Purcell, Buffalo: Buffalo draws considerably from Indiana. We think Buffalo is the logical market for Indiana and are able to take care of all offerings.

C. S. Custer, Cincinnati: If any one has anything to say about our market let us hear it.

Mr. Hutchinson: What is the matter with Cincinnati's car record reports?

Mr. Wolf: I understand reports are only sent out when cars are found leaking. I have always found Cincinnati weights O. K.

Mr. Custer: Our inspectors are instructed to note and record any indication of leakage. It often happens a car leaks and is repaired in transit.

Pres. Reimann: It is very important for the shipper to be placed in a position to collect claims from carriers. Markets cannot be too careful in testing cars.

F. E. Watkins, Cleveland: Most of the corn is testing 5 and 6. There is some 3 and 4, but it is in the minority. Bin burned oats have been poured in on us in a flood. In buying bin burned oats get a double discount for they are a drug on the market.

P. H. Schiffin, Chicago: We are handling lots of cash grain wonderfully fast thru the aid of our weighing department.

The meeting adjourned to 10 a. m. Friday.

Friday Morning Session.

The Friday morning session was called to order shortly after 10 a. m. by Pres. Reimann.

Regarding the trading in grain for future delivery Fred Vawter of Indianapolis read the following:

Future Trading.

I have been requested to read a paper by L. E. Moses, President of The South Western Millers' League; but before reading same, I want you gentlemen to understand my position on Grain Futures.

The last few months we have had erratic markets, times when the hedge has not worked with the cash grain. On some of these occasions, when my hedges have not worked out to my satisfaction, I have made some remarks about how the markets are manipulated, and some of my friends on the exchange floor have the idea that I am utterly opposed to a hedging market.

A hedging market is all right, under certain conditions and works very satisfactory for the large grain or elevator firm; and is a just proposition as long as the amount of actual grain and options are equal. The same is true of the smaller dealer; but the trouble with him is that he gets scared out of his trade too soon, by a call for margins or by the widening of the spread between the Cash and the Future, which would probably come out all right if he waited till delivery day.

Under the present rules, we all know that the markets at times are easily controlled by large concentrated interests.

Many parties who are entirely satisfied with present conditions, claim this lets the law of supply and demand rule, while in my opinion the actual condition of the grain pit where millions of bushels are handled each day, create the conditions that make or demoralize the cash grain. Or we might say that instead of the option helping the cash market, the real grain is second fiddle to the whole plan.

I feel that the seller of the grain option has the advantage over the buyer, and something should be done to equalize this condition.

If the seller of grain on the last few days of a closing option month, kept on selling, and the large interests do, he will invariably break the market with a good profit and without any intention of delivering the actual grain. If something should happen to upset his plans, he can pay a penalty or settling price which is a small loss compared to what he makes when he breaks the market, and never deliver the actual grain at all.

On the other hand if the buyer refuses to take a loss and takes delivery of the grain there is no certainty when he will get the grain loaded out and what does he get when he gets it. Our firm took December delivery on three cars corn last year one grading two or contract one car three and the other car five by Indianapolis Inspection. To test this inspection we consigned the cars to Baltimore and the cars graded the same as at Indianapolis.

All have heard something about the last September deal. At that time we were short rye and rather than take a loss we decided to rush some rye to Chicago to fill our sale and were fortunate to get the last car in and inspected on the last day of the contract selling for 2.09, which made up our loss on the short sale. The next day rye sold for twenty cents less per bushel. I don't believe we could have many changes like this without the present system.

I have read in one of the market opinions lately that, "On account of the large hedging load on corn for May and July delivery the market would probably work lower." Now is it not a fact that the so-called load works indirectly on the price of the daily receipts of grain or we might say every car hedged some of which would not be shipped for months is an actual burden on daily receipts of grain? Without this hedge the price would be made by the supply and demand at each terminal market each day and not be unduly depressed or inflated by a future short or large crop entirely.

When I think over the many uncertainties we have had for some time I feel we are fooling ourselves and that supply and demand of the actual grain would in time be a better plan, and that we could handle our business easier with less trouble and worry and run our own business instead of the business and ourselves be run by outside influences.

Mr. Vawter also read a message from L. E. Moses of the S-W Millers League on "Future Trading."

William Simons of Chicago said, That last paper sounds like the kick of a man, who wandered into the market and lost.

Future trading is the outgrowth, the natural product of many men's minds.

In the marketing of grain the farmer takes what he gets and pays what he is charged. The producer has rights, the consumer has rights and the middleman has rights. Each has a service to perform.

The grain dealer thinks of this, has an interest in the producer and is glad to see him prosper.

Not all farmers are anxious to see the grain man make a profit.

The consumer too has a right. He has been charged exorbitant prices of late years. The blame has been placed on the middleman and the producer.

Future trading in grain began in Chicago when navigation was tied up in the winter. The grain was held until navigation opened and sold for delivery in May which was the time lake navigation reopened. That future trading developed a method of stabilizing credit.

Most dealers handle grain on borrowed capital. If dealers had enough money to handle the grain without borrowing they would have so much they would not need to be in the grain business.

Bankers feel that foods are the best securities we have, even better than government bonds.

The open market with future delivery makes it possible for the farmer to learn the price of grain two, three and four months ahead. The consumer too wants to know the cost of the raw materials which constitute his flour and oat meal. All this is made possible by future trading.

The man using the market is not a speculator. He needs the speculator. The speculator carries the risk and he needs encouragement. We have speculators and there always will be speculators. If we have speculation the buyers' and sellers' rights must be protected.

Our system is not perfect. It has flaws. Everyone in the system wants to know ways to make it better. We want to see men who will buy grain to sell for higher prices. Say 600 cars of grain come into a market. What will happen if some one does not carry this grain over?

Among speculators we have scalpers. They perform a function because they produce a steady market. They form sort of a balance wheel and trades are settled each night. As they perform a function they deserve all they get.

We have unrest on the part of the producer. We seem to have more corn than is needed. This may be a blessing instead of a burden in six months. Other countries may have a crop failure. It is not likely that we will have the third good corn crop.

Would not it be fine to have a speculator carry this corn over? It would give the farmer a market so he could meet his debts.

THE BEST PLACE to carry grain is on the farm where there is no hauling charges, no shelling charges and no other expenses.

We do not need new terminal elevators. We have enough elevators now.

Bennett Taylor, Lafayette: Farmers are trying to think up a system of some kind to replace the Boards of Trade. The farmers need to be educated along this line. They are asking questions about the grain exchanges and boards of trade. I find they feel better after finding out.

Just yesterday one suggested the establishment of a line of terminal elevators in which farmers could store their grain until it could be marketed. I told him it would be better to keep the grain on the farm for in certain weather corn must be turned at least once a day while in the elevators.

In our locality some farmers use the Boards of Trade to hedge against loss. Certain feeders also use the Chicago market to protect their interests.

The dealers kept Mr. Simons busy answering questions for nearly an hour.

N. Busenbark, Crawfordsville: We bot 5000 July corn and thought we would get No. 3. It was musty on arrival. Could we refuse car?

Mr. Simons: Buyer has 48 hours to have recourse of inspection. The public elevator operator is not responsible.

Mr. Busenbark: If car was loaded No. 3 it would hardly become musty in transit.

Mr. Simons: Corn might have been loaded in a fertilizer car.

Pres. Reimann: Would buyer have recourse by ordering Federal Inspection?

Elmer Hutchinson, Arlington: The standard grade at Chicago is No. 2. The grain trade has gone to considerable expense to make these inspections uniform. Federal grain inspectors do not inspect every car but inspect on request. If man wants a car out of Chicago he can ask for Federal Inspection. When the elevator man knows the car will have federal inspection he will not be so loose and will load carefully. Federal Inspection cannot be condemned for the inspection at a market.

Mr. Simons: Eastern buyers at Chicago customarily ask for federal inspection.

Mr. Vawter: If I get Federal Inspection at Chicago on No. 2 corn must I take this grain regardless of what it grades at another market?

Mr. Rhodes, Inspector Indianapolis District: An appeal can be made within 48 hours.

Pres. Reimann: This might be a case of poor sampling and not the grading. I know of 5 cars that graded No. 2 white and at their destination at a southern market graded No. 5 on account of presence of cracked corn.

P. E. Goodrich: The subject under discussion is "Future Trading." Let's stick to the subject.

J. S. Hazelrigg, Cambridge City: Say I buy 5000 July corn. I call for delivery and they say they "haven't it." What is the rule in this case?

Mr. Simons: It is never a case that corn is not delivered. There is very little danger of non-delivery.

Mr. Hazelrigg: Several years ago I bought 5000 bus. of future corn, asked for delivery and never got it.

Mr. Simons: Possibly such a condition existed during the world war when orders were issued by the Food Administration. Court has ruled that under this war measure the commission man was not liable.

Mr. Busenbark: How can I hedge when cash is 20 cents over option, when I can't get cars and when I am buying on a cash basis?

Mr. Simons: Why buy corn at 20 cents above option? Why pay 20 cents over the market?

Mr. Busenbark: I mean wheat.

Mr. Simons: This can be done with wheat. Pres. Reimann called for order and had Sec'y Riley introduce the next speaker, H. A. Kurrie, pres. of Monon R. R., who spoke on "Railroads, Their Present Condition and Future Prospects."

MR. KURRIE: What can you do to help the carriers?

The present condition of the railways is bad. We emerged from federal control in fairly bad physical condition.

When it came to ties and rails we had to make sacrifices in this country to win the war. The 1918 rail program was practically nothing. In 1919 a business slump forced a reduction in working force. The result was rail and tie work was behind and equipment was in bad shape because the usual replacements were not made.

In the 2 year 3 month period ending Mar. 1, 1920, car purchases amounted to 100,000 cars compared with an annual replacement before that time of 100,000 cars.

During the year we have been putting equipment in order for we feel you will need them.

AS to the Transportation Act railroads are not guaranteed 6% as many people believe but are allowed rates to give us 6% returns under economical operation. If we earn but 4% that's all we get. If we earn more than 6% one-half must go to the government. There is no guarantee.

Railways have no trouble with labor or men but only desire full eight hours work for eight hours pay. We are not getting it now under the operation of the U. S. Railway Board.

Now we must pay for unrequired service or pay for more service than we require. Recently I had to approve a voucher of $7,800 for shop men for which we never got an hour of service. Sooner or later the public must pay it.

It happened because the Adjustment Board at Washington said the contract entered into by the Railroad Administration required it.

The $7,800 represents pay for two days when the men were not on duty. We told them they would not work but we had to pay. I believe the public should awaken to these contracts.

We want to pay the men enough so they may live properly and take care of their families properly, but we want a day's work for a day's pay.

Under these contracts we must pay engine and repairman for 13 hours work when he works but eight if for any reason we change him from the job he starts before it is finished. And under these contracts the men are entitled to it.

A large part of the revenue of the Monon comes from the movement of grain. You shippers are footing the bill. You are paying that $7,800. Why not explain to your representatives that railways should get an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

As to the co-operation of the grain men, Monon officials say there is nothing more grain shippers on the Monon can do to help. I find always a splendid spirit of co-operation among grain men. Everywhere we find the healthy spirit of co-operation.

The Monon looks for a big movement. Total movement on our rails is now steadily increasing and we look for nothing but the greatest possibilities for the future.

Shippers can help also by asking their representatives to allow partial payments of the money due the railways from the government.

Mr. Hutchinson: I move that we thank Mr. Kurrie for his splendid and interesting address.

P. E. Goodrich: I second that motion.

The dealers expressed their appreciation by rising and by continued applause.

Ben E. Clement, Waco, Tex., pres. of the Grain Dealers National Ass'n, delivered an interesting address which appears on page 127.

Governor Warren T. McCray, former grain dealer, visited the meeting and in his few words of encouragement said he thought the worst was over. He hoped to see in the future more government in business and less business in government. In conclusion he said that he hoped to see more constructive legislation which would be of benefit to all interests.

"Auditing the Books of Members" was the subject of an interesting address delivered by A. H. Lindon, Indianapolis, Ind., official auditor of the Indiana Grain Dealers Ass'n.

The following resolutions presented by the Resolutions Com'te were read by Chairman Sowash and adopted:

Resolutions.

SYMPATHY AND CONDOLENCE.

WHEREAS, our highly esteemed friend and brother, Frank M. Pence, of Pence, Ind., who has long been a loyal member of this Ass'n, has passed on leaving a loving wife and son, be it

RESOLVED, that we extend our sympathy and condolence to the family of the deceased.

DISCRETION IN SELECTING SIDELINES.

WHEREAS, many country grain dealers in their efforts to serve their communities have taken on side lines already carried by others and started fights which have been very expensive and of long duration, be it

RESOLVED, that we recommend that members always study carefully not only the needs of their communities, but also the interests of established merchants before branching out into new lines of business.

GRAIN EXCHANGE LEGISLATION.

WHEREAS, the Grain Exchanges and Boards of Trade of this country are being falsely charged with unduly depressing the market values of grain, and many different laws regulating and prohibiting these Exchanges are being proposed to Congress by persons entirely ignorant of our grain marketing methods and the true functions of our Grain Exchanges, and

WHEREAS, these well regulated public trading places throughout their seventy years of slow development have always sought to supply the world with dependable information regarding the needs and the crops of the world, and have striven to establish the sanctity of contracts to the end that the influence of all buying and selling on the Exchange shall be accurately reflected in the market price, and

WHEREAS, the present machinery for establishing the market values of grain makes possible the expeditious marketing of grain at any time and on a narrower margin than any other commodity is marketed, be it

RESOLVED, by the Indiana Grain Dealers Ass'n in convention assembled at Indianapolis, this 21st day of January, 1921, that we believe the grain exchanges afford the most economical, the most efficient and the most equitable method of marketing grain yet devised, and we would consider it an economical blunder of grave import to the entire world for Congress to attempt to regulate or abolish the grain exchanges, without first making a careful study of our well established grain marketing machinery and devising some efficient substitute.

RECOMMEND ASS'N'S CLAIM DEPT.

WHEREAS, the Association maintains an effective department for the collection of freight claims and only a small number of our members patronize same, and

WHEREAS, it is well known that the carriers are at most times pleased to negotiate settlements through such a department, and

WHEREAS, many of our members are following the old custom of letting their market correspondent, commission man, broker or buyer, file their claims and such parties not making a special feature of such business are glad to have the claims handled by our Department; therefore be it

RESOLVED, that we recommend to all who can consistently place their claims with the Claims Department of the Association to do so, believing that in the end they will save money, avoid delay and much annoyance.

ENDORSE EMERGENCY TARIFF BILL.

WHEREAS, the Emergency Tariff Bill now pending before Congress provides for much needed protection to our grain growers and manufacturers of grain products, be it

RESOLVED, that we urge the Indiana representatives in Congress to support the bill and use their earnest efforts to secure its enactment into law.

REDUCTION OF FREIGHT RATES.

WHEREAS, the prevailing prices for grain leaves little reward to the farmer for his arduous labor in producing the food of the nation, be it

RESOLVED, by the Indiana Grain Dealers Ass'n in convention assembled at Indianapolis, this 21st day of January, 1921, that we appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission to readjust the freight rates on grain downward.

CONTRAST RELATIONS BETWEEN RAILWAYS AND LABOR.

WHEREAS, the railways of the country are incumbered with unfair contracts which compel them to pay wages to many employees that are not earned, be it

RESOLVED, that we appeal to the Federal Railroad Labor Board in the hearings now being held to adjust the contract relations between the railways and their labor so as to insure a full day's work for a day's pay, and to avoid the employment of labor in excess of the actual requirements of the work in hand.

Convention Notes.

J. A. Manger came from Baltimore, Md.

Pencils were distributed by the Kennedy Car Liners.

Feed grinding charges of Indiana dealers were shown during the discussions to vary all the way from 5 cents per sack to 10 cents per bushel. Evidently some one working for nothing.

NORTHWESTERN seedsmen held a conference last week with the Western Trunk Line Ass'n at Chicago to get reduced rates on timothy seed from the Northwest. It is desired that the rate from Minneapolis, to Chicago, Peoria and Eastern points, be reduced from 42½ to 17 cents.

FREE SEEDS this year will cost the taxpayers $360,000, or $120,000 more than the cost of the service last year, if the amendment to the agricultural bill, introduced in the house on Jan. 24 by Rep. Langley of Kentucky becomes a law. This is the first time in years that the annual agricultural appropriation bill provided no funds for free seeds. Rep. Blanton, in opposing the amendment, condemned the seed distribution as a graft.

TOLEDO, O.—Clover seed continues on a downward trend. Offerings increase on the bulges. Fair demand on the scale down. Receipts increasing. Receipts this week nearly 2,000 bags, 251 of which graded prime. Shipments about 1,900. Understand there is quite a little foreign seed on the way, with more being offered at attractive prices. Reports from clover producing states indicate that there is a large amount of clover still in farmers' hands. The seed has been held in hopes that better prices would prevail after the Holidays. Some realize that it must be merchandised within the next two months, and will undoubtedly be willing to dispose of most of their seed between now and that time. Most of the dealers anticipate big demand in February and March. Will it be up to expectations? New York reports imports 400 bags.—Southworth & Co.

OTTAWA, QUE., Jan. 17.—The total Canadian flaxseed crop was 7,997,700 bus. from 1,428,164 acres; compared with 5,472,800 bus., from 1,093,115 acres in 1919, and with 6,367,000 bus. from 840,375 acres, the five year average. The yield per acre in 1920 is 5.6 bus., against 5 bus. in 1919 and 7¼ bus., the five year average.—Canadian Bureau of Information.

BANKRUPTCY will be ended and the Missouri Seed Co., of Kansas City, Mo., will resume business if the federal court approves of an offer made by a Kansas City bank. The bank which is a creditor agrees to pay $16,500 cash to the trustee, besides waivers of all claims by the company and its pres., Thomas Tobin. In return for this payment the bank is to receive a waiver of all claims against the company and its pres., the entire stock and seed handling machinery and the equities in real estate held by the bankrupt concern.

THE EFFECT of an electrical treatment of the seed on the yield of wheat, oats and barley has been tested by E. J. Russell, of London, Eng. In the London Journal of Agriculture he says: The means of bringing the current to the seed was to place the seed in a solution capable of conducting a current of electricity. In the experiments described both sodium chloride and calcium chloride solutions were used. Seed treated was placed in a 5% solution of sodium chloride (common salt) and a current of electricity of eight watts per gallon was passed thru it. Seeds were then removed from the solution and dried at a temperature of 100 degrees. Wheat, oats and barley treated in this manner failed to produce consistent increased yields and Mr. Russell says that the process was of doubtful value.

EVANSVILLE, IND.—Altho the Mercantile-Commercial bank of this city holds the trusteeship of W. H. Small & Co. the Vanderburg county superior court has jurisdiction in litigation involving the trusteeship, ruled Judge Robert J. Tracewell of the superior court. The case is a suit of the Farmers' Trust Co. to foreclose a lien for about $5,000 on warehouse receipts held against the Small Co. "If, as the defendant's attorneys claim, the Evansville Elevator & Storage Co. was mere fiction, and the Small Co. was the same concern and used the same warehouse, it looks as if this giving of the receipts amounted to a fraud and a bad one," said Judge Tracewell in passing upon the matter. The Small Seed Co. several months ago filed a voluntary deed of assignment and the Mercantile-Commercial bank was named as receiver for the company. The assets of the company, which were considerably over one million dollars, exceeded the liabilities. The Mercantile-Commercial bank since then has been conducting the business of the company.—C.

TOLEDO, O.—In line with everything else red clover felt the effects of liquidation. Offerings seemed to increase as prices shrunk, and then the buying power diminished. Cash offerings from the outside increased and furnished most of the selling of futures as hedges. Buying came from country points that have no stocks, they reporting that farmers were ready to place their spring order. Toledo stocks promise some increase in the immediate future, and take it from us, scarcely a bag will be offered for sale on arrival. Reason? Hedged some time before its arrival. Large offerings past three weeks have been well absorbed, and shows we have a pretty broad and good trading market. If the spring demand comes to anywhere near expectations you'll find all the good seed here will be needed. As the demand improves and sales are made the corresponding amount of February and March, the original hedges, will be removed. This in turn will show the true trend and prices harden accordingly.—Z. F. Zahm & Co.

Senate Bill No. 92, introduced by Senator Frizzell, relates to the sale of grain, meat or other farm products, directing that the sales must be bona fide and the sellers in actual possession of the goods and providing that the county attorney shall have investigational powers to see to the enforcement of the law, which carries with it a penalty of a fine of not less than $20,000 and imprisonment of not less than 10 years for violation.

The claim department of the Kansas Grain Dealers Ass'n, under the management of S. R. Duckett, is vigorously prosecuting claims filed by members against the railroad companies. No charge is made unless the claim is collected. Mr. Duckett says: "If you can substantiate your indicated shortages with complete records indicating a reliable performance of your facilities, collection of your claims can be made for the full amount of the indicated loss. On the other hand, collection cannot be forced, even by means of lawsuit, only on the record of the scale performance and it is sometimes necessary to compromise claims in view of the record indicating an unreliable performance of the facility. Claims can be collected from the carrier for decline in market value due to unreasonable delay in transportation and we earnestly recommend that you submit such claims."

Senator Green of Elk County has introduced a bill, No. 29, which merits the outspoken opposition of every grain dealer, as its effect will be to prevent the sale of grain by anyone not the owner, for future delivery. Sec. 2 provides that when a deposit has been made on a future contract, the contract can not be closed out except by delivery. The effect of the act is not limited to exchanges in the cities, but will prevent country dealers selling to terminal market dealers for future delivery of cash grain.

ST. PAUL LETTER.

A report of the com'te on markets and marketing recommending a bill to amend the co-op. code so that co-op. ass'ns may have trade privileges on the grain exchanges, has been adopted by the House. The bill provides that co-op. companies who do not distribute profits on a "patronage" basis may be admitted to membership. The rules of the Chamber of Commerce already so provide, so there seems to be no reason for the bill.

The status of some of the bills of interest to the grain trade was on Jan. 16 as follows: Farmers co-op. ass'n bill has passed the house and is before the senate com'te; bill for state auditing of co-op. society books reported favorably by com'tes in both houses; hearings to be arranged next week on bills affecting grain exchanges. Highway legislation bills under consideration by com'tes in both houses, which will have daily sessions beginning Jan. 18, while subcom'tes work out details of motor vehicle license taxes.

Grain men at this market drafted a protest against the proposed bill to increase the indemnity bond of grain and hay commission firms and recently presented it to the legislative com'te in charge of re-drafting the bill. The protest was in the form of a set of resolutions from the St. Paul Hay Board of Trade and letters of protest from the St. Paul Grain Exchange, and the Federal, Mondamin, Producers and Consumers' Grain companies. The bill as originally drafted provides for increasing the minimum indemnity bond for every grain commission firm from $4,000 to $25,000 in every city in which that firm may operate. The bill now is in the hands of a re-drafting com'te composed of Senators Ole Saging, Olaf Gjvureet and H. N. Benson.

Future trading is the subject of House Bill No. 23. It would prohibit future trades on the grounds that they are gambling transactions.

A bill requiring the state board of grain appeals to establish the old grades in effect just before the federal standard grades were made as "Minnesota Grades" is being considered by the legislature now in session here.

The interim com'tes of the senate and house on workmen's compensation legislation is nearly ready to introduce three important bills. They will cover the following topics: Establishment of an industrial commission to administer the compensation law and take over the present labor department. Changes in the present compensation law, and state regulation of workmen's compensation insurance rates. Failure of the recent conference between representatives of employers and employees to agree on changes in the present schedule of compensation for industrial accidents puts it up to the interim com'te, which will present a tentative schedule. One change said to be agreed on is to allow compensation for total disability for the entire life of the disabled person, instead of limiting it to 300 weeks.

New officers of the Kaull Milling Co., which has just been reorganized, are: Charles Caton, pres.; H. R. St. John, vice-pres., and Ray Green, all of Concordia, Kan., treas. It is expected that the new plant here and the plant at Glen Elder, Kan., will be put into operation. W. C. Kreger is still mgr. for the company.

All local tariffs affecting switching and reconsignment charges on grain at this market when ordered to connecting lines for delivery or reshipment, are now uniform. The Union Pacific Ry. The Root Grain Co., of this city, got judgment in the federal court at Kansas City, Kan., for $3,000 against B. H. Pugh, of Topeka, Kans., on a contract for the purchase of grain for future delivery. Pugh's defense is that he was gambling; but the court instructed the jury that if the Root Grain Co. understood the trades were for actual delivery the speculation was legitimate.

On Jan. 22 Sec'y Bigelow of the Board of Trade sold 50,000 bus. of No. 2 red wheat in store here at auction for the "account of whom it may concern," believed to be grain sold to mills who refused to accept delivery or furnish further margins to protect it. The report that the J. L. Frederick Commission Co. had discontinued its St. Louis office is entirely false. The J. L. H. Hasenwinkle and W. R. Spiers as sec'y and treas.—J. L. Frederick Commission Co., per Ed. H. Hasenwinkle.

Interior mills 20 miles or more from the railroad charge 50c per bu. In October and November the commission ordered a test run by all public mills of the state and formed its decision from the results of the test. It was found that mills of 100 bbls. or more capacity, which had been allowed a toll charge of only 25c, showed an actual cost of 28.5c per bu. on the average run; mills of 25 to 100 bbls., formerly allowed 30c, showed an actual cost of 35.3c, while the 25 bbl. mills and those still smaller showed a cost of 40.9c, against the 35c allowed them. The cost to a mill located 20 miles or more from the R. R. was 47.3c, against 40c allowed them. The test figures allowed for the actual cost of the manufacturing and overhead charges.

New Seed Law for Indiana Introduced.

A pure seeds bill H. B. 99 was introduced into the lower house of the Indiana legislature on Jan. 19 by Representative Malott.

Previous to its introduction a com'te representing the Indiana Grain Dealers Ass'n met with a com'te representing the Indiana Farmers Ass'n to consider the effect of such an act.

Chairman Hutchinson of the com'te representing the Indiana Grain Dealers Ass'n says there are many things in the bill which will be gone over and ironed out when it comes up for hearing in the house.

The bill provides that each package of seeds weighing more than one pound must be correctly and conspicuously labeled to show the parity of the seeds, what they test and the maximum amount and character of the seeds of "noxious weeds" contained.

The director of the experiment station of Purdue University would have the duty of administering the act and would be provided with a laboratory, inspectors and assistants to make inspections of any seeds sold for seeding purposes within the state. The expense of the work would be defrayed through the sale of labels or stamps for the packages of seeds which are required on each package.

Certain exceptions to this requirement are made in the cases of farmers selling and delivering the seeds of their own raising. A person selling seeds only becomes a vendor under the terms of the act, when he advertises the seeds for sale by means of circulars through the daily mails or through the press. Seeds sold for use outside the state also are exempt.

Violation of the act consists of incorrect labeling of the package of seeds, which is made a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of from $10 to $100.

CORN PRODUCTION as a grain crop in England was attempted many years ago by Prof. Biffen of Cambridge University. Gehu, Eighty-day white and other early maturing varieties of corn were selected for the experimental work. In 1914 Prof. Biffen turned the work over to R. C. Punnett who conducted a series of experiments with the seed selected by the professor. After three years, or in 1917, Mr. Punnett reported that he had secured a yield of 39 bus. of corn per acre. In 1918 after a very careful selection of seed the white corn yielded 61 bus. acre and the yellow corn averaged 47 bus. per acre. At the conclusion of his experimental work Mr. Punnett suggested that corn was one of the most suitable feeding grains the small farmer in England could produce.

CHANGES desired in New York's drastic feed law have been approved by the American Feed Manufacturers Ass'n, the New York Feed Manufacturers Ass'n and the New York Millers Ass'n. The changes which were presented to the New York legislature on Jan. 12 include the exempting of pure whole grains ground together from being classed as a concentrated feed and exempting of feed contained in white or light colored sacks from being required to carry tags.

NEW MEMBERS of the U. S. Feed Distributors Ass'n include The Corbin Flour Co., Chicago, Ill.; I. S. Joseph Co., Minneapolis, Minn.; General Commission Co., Kansas City, Mo.; Schreiber Milling & Grain Co., St. Joseph, Mo.; Clover Leaf Milling Co., Buffalo, N. FEED DEALERS in Ohio are warned by the state officials not to handle feeds not licensed by the manufacturer. One manufacturer outside the state refuses to settle for license and owes the state $120 and under the law the state can proceed against each of the 20 Ohio dealers who have handled feeds from this factory, collecting $20 from each.

"ALL EGGS except those which are moldy or which have black rot or crusted yolks are satisfactory for use in the manufacture of stock or poultry feed and may be shipped if properly denatured," is the substance of a recent announcement of the Bureau of Chemistry, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. The denaturing of eggs to be used in poultry feed consists of cooking the eggs until they are hard and then grinding them shell and all. For stock feed the eggs should be removed from the shell cooked and then mixed with cotton seed or other meal. The denaturing process is ordered to insure the eggs against being used for human food.

USE OF WEED SEEDS and other objectionable materials in the manufacture of linseed meal is a violation of the Food & Drugs Act according to the following statement issued by the Bureau of Chemistry, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture: It has come to the bureau's attention that some manufacturers of linseed meal are putting out a product containing excessive weed seeds and other foreign materials. In some instances screenings cake is added by grinding with the linseed cake. In other instances the foreign materials find their way into the finished product through failure to remove them by employing the most improved commercial processes of cleaning. A product of this character if sold as linseed meal is clearly defined by section 7 of the Food and Drugs Act as adulterated and will be proceeded against accordingly if brought within the jurisdiction of the law.

AGRICULTURAL ACTIVITY in Belgium is on the increase. Thru the assistance of the Belgian Agricultural Department 41.6% of the 148,260 acres of war swept untillable territory were ready for crops on Oct. 1, 1920. Total acreage cultivated in 1920 was 3,311,165 acres or 320,601 acres more than was cultivated in 1919. The acreage devoted to the production of rye, winter barley, oats and flax considerably increased while the acreage devoted to wheat, beans, peas, spelts and lentils was less than the 1919 acreage. During the war the use of fertilizer in Belgium was considerably curtailed because of a scarcity. Its use is now prevalent in spite of the present high prices.

Wheat Oklahoma's Best Paying Crop.

According to figures compiled by the Oklahoma Crop Reporting Service wheat was the best paying 1920 crop per acre in that state, bringing the producer an average of $21.60 per acre. Barley was the next best crop, bringing the farmer $17.28, corn $15.12 per acre and oats $14.08 per acre.

Last year barley took the honors, bringing the farmer $36.60 per acre. Corn came next, bringing $30.48, followed by wheat, bringing $28.70 per acre and oats $23.10 per acre.

These figures were based on the prices effective on Dec. 1 when the Oklahoma farmer received approximately the following amounts: Corn, 54 cents; wheat, $1.35; oats, 44 cents, and barley, 72 cents. The figures on which the prices for 1919 were based were in effect on Dec. 1, 1919, and follow: Corn, $1.27; wheat, $2.05; oats, 70 cents; and barley, $1.22.

Grain Carriers

A PORT strike is expected in Argentina.

ROADS are bad and this keeps down grain hauls to stations.—A. C. Johnson, v. p., C. & N. W. R. R.

THE PER DIEM rate will not be reduced or suspended at this time, according to an announcement of the American Railway Ass'n.

CONGESTION is the reason given by the Canadian Northern for the establishment on Jan. 22 of an embargo against wheat shipments to Duluth.

SHIPPING BOARD VESSELS are reported by Pacific Coast exporters to be carrying grain to the United Kingdom for $16 per ton, compared with a rate of $15 per ton on foreign vessels.

EXORBITANT rail rates and their affect on the grain hay and feed dealer is clearly explained in a letter from an Indiana shipper and receiver which appears elsewhere in this number.

THE EMBARGO against the export of wheat, flour, buckwheat and barley from Manchuria, established by the Chinese Government was the cause of a recent protest sent to China by Japan.

THE AVERAGE number of car surplusages for the week ending Dec. 31 was 197,733, while the shortage was only 3,808 cars, over 2,000 of which were coal cars. The surplusage of box cars was 147,487.

THE CANADIAN Millers Ass'n at a recent meeting at Toronto, Ont., considered action to be taken to forestall any attempt of the lake carriers to shift the charges for trimming and shoveling onto the grain shipper.—B.

GRAIN AND FLOUR rates from North Pacific Coasts to England have been reduced from $18 to $15 per ton by United States Shipping Board vessels. Dutch tonnage is reported to have been offered for $14.60 per ton.

FIRST CANADIAN grain to be shipped from Vancouver, B. C., direct to Europe, will be carried on the U. S. Shipping Board vessel "Effingham" late this month. The cargo will comprise 2,000 tons of No. 1 northern wheat.

AN ORDER requiring the Missouri Pacific to divert interstate passenger trains daily to Caruthersville, Mo., handed down by the Missouri Public Utilities Commission, was recently declared invalid by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

INCREASED CHARGES on export and coastwise shipments of rice and rice products to shipside at New Orleans, La., have been found by the Interstate Commerce Commission to be unjustified; and the suspended schedules have been ordered canceled, in Docket No. 1204.

SHIPPERS of hay in South Dakota and Montana are losing money on account of the exorbitant rail rates on that commodity. Prices in Chicago on Jan. 24 ranged from $16 to $24 per ton for alfalfa hay and the rail rates on many Dakota and Montana shipments ran as high as $13 per ton.

EXORBITANT wages are paid shop employees under the rules adopted by the federal railroad administration, testified E. T. Whiter before the Labor Board at Chicago Jan. 11. Under rule 7 a machinist who worked at different jobs during a spread of 8 hours was paid for 16½ hours.

A NEW RAILWAY which will tap a great grain producing territory is the Golden Belt R. R. which has applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to operate. The line, which is to carry grain exclusively, is to be financed by the farmers thru whose country it extends, will be 64 miles long and connect Hyacinth, Kan. with Great Bend, Kan.

SIDE TRACK lease jurisdiction is not held by the Interstate Commerce Commission, states Clifford Thorne and attorneys for the Grain Dealers National Ass'n, and Farmers National Grain Dealers Ass'n, in a brief taking a position opposed to that of the National Industrial Traffic League in Docket 11545.

MILLING, cleaning, storing and other treating of grain in transit privileges effective on California carriers are to be investigated by the California Railway Commission. Two hearings on the subject are to be conducted by the commission at Los Angeles on Feb. 24 and Mar. 3 and most of the carriers operating in California have been asked to appear.

GRAIN CARRIERS of the west for the first time in years are reporting a surplus of cars suitable for carrying grain during the crop moving season. For instance, the Union Pacific has 3700 more cars on its lines than it owns and on Jan. 15 had over 14,000 of its 25,000 freight cars standing idle on its tracks. The Burlington and other large western carriers report a similar surplus of equipment over demand.

HIGHER FREIGHT RATES on grain and grain products from points on the Toledo, St. Louis & Western, routed over the lines of the Big Four are not justified, says the Interstate State Commerce Commission. The higher charges were to be brought about by the cancellation of the existing joint rates and by the establishment of the intermediate rates. The Indianapolis Board of Trade and many Indiana shippers protested against the increase.

GRAIN MOVING from Canada into the United States over the lines of the Canadian Pacific for some time past has had to move in cars belonging to American carriers. On account of the general slow down in railway operations making many idle cars the C. P. recently announced that oats from Alberta points to Seattle, Portland and Tacoma could now be shipped in C. P. cars. Wheat also may be shipped in C. P. cars from Calgary points to Minneapolis, Minn.

VESSELMEN made no headway with their proposition to amend the lake B/L to place the responsibility for the out-turn of cargoes on the shipper. Representative shippers from Chicago, Milwaukee, Winnipeg and other points conferred Jan. 17 and 18, just before the annual meeting of the Lake Carriers Ass'n., at Detroit, to protest if necessary against the change in the B/L. The matter was, therefore, not brot up in the convention and no action was taken.

THE HEARING on the ocean grain and flour differential before the Shipping Board, at Washington, Jan. 4, was well attended by millers' representatives who sought the retention of the present 5-cent difference. H. Y. Cartwright, chairman of the British section of the Gulf Conference, said they would not take any flour for less than 50 cents, and the British line agents had been instructed to let the American Shipping Board vessels take the flour at the 33-cent rate established by the shipping board.

RATES ON BEANS from Pere Marquette stations in Michigan, receiving service in transit at Toledo, O., and then shipped to various destinations, were the cause of complaint filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission by Chatterton & Co., of Lansing, Mich. A clause in the tariffs of the P. M. stated that shipments leaving transit points must move over the lines of P. M. and was inserted to cover the transit privileges in Michigan. After transit at Toledo, a terminus of the P. M., shipments could not leave Toledo over the P. M. except by the back haul movement. When called to its attention the P. M. amended its tariff. Chatterton & Co. asked for reparation on 60 cars of beans shipped thru its elevator before the P. M. noticed its error. The Commission decided that complainant was entitled to reparation after it had complied with Rule 5, Rules of Practice.

THE FREIGHT rate structure of today will force all shippers to establish central distributing plants. Oranges to the long haul consumer will be classed as forbidden fruit. Business must be localized through distributing plants in various sections of the country.—T. J. McLaughlin, traffic manager.

"A RIDICULOUS ATTEMPT to conduct a business enterprise and so replete with mismanagement, inefficiency and incompetency as to defy imagination" is the condemnation of the government operation of the Erie Canal contained in the annual report of superintendent of New York's Public Works, E. S. Walsh. Mr. Walsh also predicts that the government deficit in operating the canal during 1920 will far exceed the $506,807 deficit incurred during 1919.

CANADIAN-U. S. FREIGHT charges which have been causing shippers considerable inconvenience of late because of the difference of exchange was the cause of a meeting held in Ottawa, Ont., on Jan. 12 between representatives of the Dominion Railway Commission and various Canadian shippers. The conference decided that Canadians shipping to the U. S. shall pay for the Canadian portion of the movement in Canadian money and pay for the American portion of the movement in American money. F. B. Carvell, head of the Dominion Ry. Comm'n, said that no definite announcement would as yet be made until the action was ratified by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

EIGHT MONSTER new 14-wheel locomotives of special design "capable of pulling anything the coupling pin will hold," the first of a lot of fifteen, ordered by the C., B. & Q., in April, 1920, have just been shipped from the Baldwin Locomotive Works. These engines are equipped with five pair of drivers. Each of the ten driving wheels weighs 5,000 pounds. These "power plants on wheels" are more than 86 feet long. They are capable of exerting a straight-away pull of 75,500 pounds. Provided with many new and novel labor and fuel saving devices, including mechanical stokers and super-heaters, these engines are expected to make some new records in the efficient and economical handling of heavy freight trains.

RAILROAD companies are cutting down the number of their employees, or reducing their working time to meet the falling off in earnings, due to the diminished traffic. Pres. Rea of the Pennsylvania estimates that it has 58,000 idle cars. The B. & O. has given 8,000 men a "temporary furlough." Ten per cent of the Alton shop employees at Bloomington have been laid off. The Erie Railroad Co., has put all office, yard, station and other forces on a basis of 5 days a week. Workers must lay off 2 days in 7 days, or 20% of the employees will be laid off, is the order effective all over the Pennsylvania Lines. A reduction in business amounting to 25%, compared with a year ago, is the reason given by the C. & A. for laying off all employees one day in six. Pres. W. G. Bied says $35,000 is thus being saved per month.

"GRAIN RATES from St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, and other Missouri River points to the Atlantic Coast and the proposal to re-establish the differential between Atlantic Coast and Gulf rates which existed formerly" were the subjects discussed at a meeting in Chicago, Ill., Jan. 13 and 14 between numerous millers, grain dealers and carrier representatives before the Interstate Commerce Commission, Director of Traffic, W. V. Hardie. Northwest interests desire to have the rate on wheat from Minneapolis to New York reduced to 40 cents per cwt. on wheat to meet the competition of the lakes, on which the rates are lower. Coarse grain shippers also asked that the rate on coarse grain be reduced to 40 cents per cwt. Southwestern interests want a rate so that they can meet the competition of the mills at Buffalo if the rates are reduced.

COURTESY among railway workers will be with us again, judging from the following announcement sent to all employees on the Burlington: Courtesy costs only a little personal effort on our part, but it helps to spell prosperity, both for the company and its employees, and sufficient increased appreciation from the public as a whole to repay us well, will be the reward for our thoughtfulness. And, as those who smile are more popular than those who don't, let us smile while we are about it.

GRAIN SHIPPERS and carriers conferred in the office of Eugene Morris, at Chicago, Jan. 14 and 15 before W. V. Hardie, director of traffic of the Interstate Commerce Commission, on the relationship of rates to Gulf and to Atlantic ports. The restoration of the 8c differential from Kansas City to the Gulf in place of the present differential of 14c which has been effective since Aug. 26 was considered. At the same time the Minneapolis representatives asked a reduction in the thru rates on grain and grain products to the east, from 49½c to 40 cents, Minneapolis to New York, domestic.

RAILWAY WAGES should and must be reduced substantially sooner or later, and steps toward their reduction should be taken in the near future, said S. O. Dunn, editor of the Railway Age, Jan. 21, to the New York Railroad Club. "The demonstrated inability of the railways to earn the return expected, even when handling a maximum traffic, and the tremendous decline of traffic, are creating a serious situation to which not only railway managers, but the Railroad Labor Board, the Interstate Commerce Commission and Congress must give early attention. In September the railways earned only 67 per cent of the expected net return; in October only 77 per cent, in November, only 58 per cent.

"USE AMERICAN SHIPS" is now the slogan of the Millers National Federation. The emergency defense Com'te of the Ass'n at its meeting on Jan. 15 thru its chairman, A. L. Goetzmann adopted the resolution which follows in part: Whereas the U. S. Shipping Board has reaffirmed the 5 cents per hundred ocean freight rate on flour over wheat and whereas the U. S. Shipping Board recognizes the competitive nature of our export flour trade and as we desire to show our appreciation for the support of the shipping board therefore it is resolved that this com'te will urge on the milling industry to the best of its ability the use of American ships in the transporting of its products.

OF GRAIN leaving the Chicago district by water during the lake shipping season just closed the percentage which cleared from the Calumet River follows: 75% of the wheat, 77% of the corn, 31% of the oats, 87% of the rye and 15% of the barley. The clearings from the Chicago River exceeded the clearings from the Calumet River only in rye and barley. Of the grain moving to the Chicago district by water 72% of the wheat came to Calumet river elevators while practically all the other grain came to Chicago River points. Total shipments as given out at the close of navigation by the custom officials show the shipments from the Chicago district to be as follows: Wheat, 11,191,958 bus.; corn, 8,229,271 bus.; oats, 1,426,287 bus.; rye, 2,833,906 bus., and barley, 606,698 bus. Receipts: Wheat, 1,600,184 bus.; barley, 144,803 bus.; and oats, 418,213 bus. While no comparative figures have as yet been made public it is estimated that the volume of shipping for the 1920 season far exceeded the shipping of 1919.

GRASSHOPPERS will infest the western section of Canada next year is the prediction of Dominion Entomologist, Arthur Gibson, to the recent meeting of the Ontario Society of Technical Agriculturists. He explained that as many as 3,000 eggs per square foot have been found in Manitoba.

Supreme Court Decisions

Delay in Accepting Offer.—Where buyer received offer requiring acceptance by return mail, and did not accept until the next day, the seller was not bound.—Glencoe Cotton Mills v. Capital Paper Co., Appellate Court of Indiana, 128 N. E. 699.

Suit against Foreign Railroad Corporation.—Where a foreign railway corporation has an agent in the state to solicit traffic for its road, jurisdiction over such company may be acquired by service of the summons and complaint on such agent.—Merchants Elevator Co., of Minneapolis, v. Chesapeake & Ohio R. R. Co. Supreme Court of Minnesota. 179 N. W. 734.

Carrier May Deliver without B/L.—The Carmack Amendment of June 29, 1906, to the Hepburn Act (U. S. Comp. St. §§ 8604a, 8604aa), requiring initial carrier to deliver a bill of lading and rendering it liable to the holder through any loss or damage, was not intended to forbid the delivery of a shipment by carrier under any circumstances to any one except the holder of the bill of lading.—City Nat. Bank v. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. Court of Civil Appeals of Texas. 225 S. W. 391.

Counterfeiting Bs/L.—Power of Congress, under Const. art. 1, § 8, to regulate foreign and interstate commerce and to make all laws necessary and proper for carrying into execution such power, includes the power, exercised in Act. Aug. 29, 1916, § 41 (Comp. St. § 8604u), to penalize counterfeiting and use of a fictitious B/L, where there was no actual or contemplated commerce; commerce being interfered with by such an instrument.—United States v. Ferger. Supreme Court of the United States. 39 Sup. Ct. Rep. 445.

Claims Against Wire Companies Accruing During Government Control.—A telegraph company receiving back its properties from the government under Order No. 3380 of July 30, 1919, of the Postmaster General, did not thereby assume or make its own or become liable for or upon any contract, obligation, claim or cause of action which accrued during the government control, nor did the mere act of receiving back its properties, render the company liable for negligence of an employee during government control and use, or for any character of obligation, whether growing out of contract or tort, though compensation was made for such use.—W. U. Tel. Co. v. Robinson. Court of Civil Appeals of Texas. 225 S. W. 877.

Liability for Delay Under Carmack Amendment.—Proof of unreasonable delay in delivery of a shipment by defendant railroad raised a presumption of negligence on the part of the railroad, which was not refuted by reason of plaintiff shipper's failure to tender any evidence on such issue, so that trial court was justified in its finding of unreasonable delay caused by the railroad's negligence. In view of the Carmack Amendment, conditions of the B/L covering an interstate shipment that the amount of any loss or damage should be computed on the basis of the value of the property at the time and place of shipment, held not legally an exception of the carrier from liability for negligence in not forwarding the shipment with reasonable dispatch, such provisions merely establishing a rule for determining the value of the property.—Strohs v. N. Y. C. R. Co. Supreme Court of New York. 184 N. Y. S. 362.

Customer's Recovery from Bankrupt Broker.—Where a stockbroker at the time of his bankruptcy had in his possession certificates of stock of the same kind as that bought for a customer, the customer is entitled to reclaim such certificates, whether or not they are the identical ones bought for him. A stock broker employed by a customer cannot, without the knowledge and consent of the customer, fill the order with stock owned by himself.—In re B. Solomon & Co. U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. 268 Fed. 108.

Carrier's Liability as Warehouseman.—A carrier, having been free from negligence, is relieved of any liability as warehouseman or trustee for burning of goods shipped. Where one car was unloaded by the carrier and the goods placed in a warehouse and another car was placed for unloading and a portion of the shipment removed by the consignee, who signed receipts for both cars, there was a delivery, relieving the carrier from liability for the subsequent destruction of the shipments by fire.—Denver & R. G. R. Co. v. Johnson. Supreme Court of Colorado. 193 Pac. 729.

Burden of Proof to Establish Order.—In an action on an account by a commission house operating on a board of trade, the items being predicated upon orders for the purchase of grain, the burden of proof was on plaintiff as to an item of the account based on an order given by defendant's claimed agent, and to sustain such burden plaintiff was bound to prove that each item was contracted by defendant, or someone acting with authority from him, or that he duly ratified the unauthorized act of the agent, if such.—Lamson Bros. & Co. v. Burup. Supreme Court of Iowa. 179 N. W. 848.

Rights of Purchaser under Breach of Warranty.—Where goods are purchased under an express warranty as to quality, the purchaser may rescind on discovering inferior quality of the articles sold, but is not bound to do so, and may retain the articles purchased and sue on the warranty, or recoup the damages when sued for the price, but when the contract is to deliver goods of a particular description or quality without express warranty, and the purchaser accepts them after discovery of the inferior quality, or after having had a fair opportunity to make such inspection, he waives his right to damages.—Courtesy Flour Co. v. Westbrook. Supreme Court of Arkansas. 225 S. W. 3.

Carrier Liable for Failure to Stop Car for Inspection.—The plaintiff bot a car of corn of a certain grade, and according to directions it was shipped by the seller over defendant's road to a destination in another state upon the stipulated condition that the railroad company should stop the car at a stated point near the origin of shipment for inspection. Plaintiff sold the car to another dealer on the basis of such inspection, and his vendee in turn sold to a dealer at the destination on the same basis. The railroad company failed to stop the car for inspection, and, learning of this failure, plaintiff's vendee demanded and received from plaintiff the price paid for the corn. The railroad company carried the corn to destination without delay, and it was there found to have heated and deteriorated in transit. It was in good condition and of the contract grade when it reached the place of inspection. The vendee at destination refused to receive the corn because of its condition, and it was there sold by plaintiff at a reduced price. Plaintiff sued the railroad company to recover the difference between the reduced price and that which it had paid for the corn. Held that the plaintiff's loss was the direct and proximate result of defendant's breach of its contract to stop the car for inspection.—Bruce Bros. Grain Co. v. Hines. Director General. Supreme Court of Kansas. 193 Pac. 339.

Waiver of Notice to Supply Cars.—Where railroad knew how many cars would be needed during shipping season at particular point, and furnished cars each day on the verbal request of agent of shippers, there was a waiver of the written notice to supply the cars, required by Acts 1909, p. 698.—De Queen & E. R. Co. v. Park. Supreme Court of Arkansas. 225 S. W. 614.

Call for Reinspection After Discovering Plugging.

Taylor Milling Co., Taylor, Tex., plaintiff, v. E. G. Rall Grain Co., Ft. Worth, Tex., defendant, before the Arbitration Com'te of the Texas Grain Dealers Ass'n, composed of E. W. Crouch, A. P. Hughston and W. H. Killingsworth.

The controversy in this case grows out of shipment of one car of wheat sold by E. G. Rall Grain Co. to Taylor Milling Co. on Fort Worth weights and grades. E. G. Rall Grain Co., in making shipment of this car attached Fort Worth weight and grade certificates to draft. After Taylor Milling Co. began unloading this car they state that they found the car plated or plugged, and instead of getting No. 2 wheat out of the bottom of the car as bought, Taylor Milling Co. claims the wheat tested only 56 lbs., and in proof of this contention submitted sample drawn by Taylor Milling Co. to Fort Worth Grain Exchange for inspection, which sample graded 57.8 lbs. test, No. 3 mixed soft red winter wheat, 5% dockage.

The Com'te finds that E. G. Rall Grain Co. complied with their contract in full when they furnished Fort Worth weight and grade certificate and that the only recourse Taylor Milling Company had was to have called for a reinspection or appeal inspection on this car before it left Fort Worth. Since Taylor Milling Co. did not avail themselves of this privilege, we hold that the original weight and grade certificates furnished on this car shall be final and in compliance with the contract.

We, therefore, find that E. G. Rall Grain Co. owes Taylor Milling Co. nothing and Sec'y Dorsey is instructed to return the deposit fee of E. G. Rall Grain Co.

Variance in Confirmations.

St. Joseph Hay & Grain Co., of St. Joseph, Mo., plaintiff, v. Bossemeyer Bros., Superior, Neb., defendants, before Arbitration Com'te No. 2 of the Grain Dealers National Ass'n, composed of Frank B. Bell, H. W. Reimann and E. H. Bingham.

Under date of Jan. 10, 1920, defendants sold plaintiff three cars of ear corn, delivered St. Joseph, Mo. While there was a variation between plaintiff's and defendants' confirmation, no exceptions were taken by either party and it was only a variance in regard to quality. Defendants' confirmation read "New ear corn," plaintiff's "Good, sound, reasonably dry ear corn," both providing for practically the same kind of weights. The question in controversy between the parties interested covers condition of this corn upon arrival at destination. No exceptions were taken as to the condition of the corn by plaintiffs upon its arrival at St. Joseph, Mo., this being the point to which delivery was to be made. Defendant elected to sell two cars to go to interior points, the third car being disposed of to another concern at St. Joseph and wish to recover damages due to their statement that corn was out of condition and, therefore, could not be delivered to the final buyers.

This com'te denies that the plaintiff had the right to resell this corn to interior points without permission of the defendant. Also finds that corn in its final handling was shelled out and graded of a grade which would indicate that it could not have been in the condition as specified by plaintiff. Acting under the rules of the organization under which we operate, cannot allow plaintiff's claim as presented, but insofar as it is satisfactory to defendant to make them an allowance of 3c per bushel on car 12819—$29.72; 7c on car 10426—$75.05, making a total of $104.77, this committee recommends that a check for this amount be mailed to the sec'y of this organization, the cost of arbitration to be assessed to plaintiff.

Supply Trade

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND.—My prospects for elevator work are very bright this year.—A. H. Richner.

TODAY's successful advertiser is careful, not reckless; determined, not discouraged; persistent, not spasmodic.—Class.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—No library of engineering data is complete without the General Electric Co.'s bulletin No. 49305 on "Wires and Cables" and its companion bulletins, 49306-7-8-9.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Associated Building Contractors of Illinois at a recent meeting adopted a resolution favoring the enactment of a statute making violators of trade agreements criminally liable. The calling of strikes in violation of wage agreements would be penalized.

PORTLAND, ORE.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was recently filed in the Federal Court by the Winkelman Bag & Burlap Co., in accordance with a resolution passed at a meeting of the Board of Directors held the latter part of December. The liabilities are given as $65,535.59 and assets as $26,757.83.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Chas. Piez, pres. of the Link-Belt Co., has issued a readable pamphlet giving the facts in the controversy over the Shipping Board operations. It is an amazing exposure of the ignorance of the critics of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, and is a reprint of Mr. Piez testimony Jan. 21 before the select com'te at Washington.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Volume of lumber business will be limited as long as building inactivity continues. Construction on a proper basis will not occur until the prices of other materials used in building are reduced to a reasonable level. They will be when building material interests follow the example set by lumber men.—H. S. Dewey, Hines Lumber Co.

CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA.—The Union of South Africa has perfected plans, and will soon be receiving bids for contracts, for building two port elevators at Capetown and Durban of 30,000 tons and 42,000 tons capacity, respectively, and 71 up-country elevators possessing an aggregate capacity of 160,000 tons, at a cost of 1,799,000 pounds. In addition, cleaning plants, drying plants, hopper weighing machines, hydraulically operated tipplers, and 1,000 railway trucks of box type and 40 tons capacity will be required for service as soon as the elevators are complete.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—Many elevator owners are puzzled over the present valuation of their elevators. They are wondering if the plant is over-insured or under-insured; they are desirous of placing the elevator on the market, but have no idea of the actual present day value of it. Valuation figures are also essential in figuring federal taxes. Every elevator owner should know the true amount of his invested capital. E. D. Mayo, M. E., of this city, who has had over 30 years' experience in the construction of grain elevators makes a specialty of appraising elevator property.

CHICAGO, ILL.—On Jan. 15 the American Railway Express announced that an increase of 26% in rates between U. S. and Canadian points would become effective immediately on all shipments of carload lots. A similar increase in rates will also apply on first and second class express matter carried by the company between U. S. and Canadian points after Feb. 4. When this latter increase becomes effective the express company will have received a 26% increase covering every part of the U. S. and Canada, Illinois excepted. This state has allowed an increase of only 12½% over the old rate.

SPRINGFIELD, MO.—Referring to prospects for elevator building in the Southwest for this year: We are not particularly optimistic inasmuch as very few of the millers have been making any money. We are hoping that business conditions will become more stable in the near future and in the event that the mills can operate on a profitable basis, there is a probability that improvements and additions will be made in connection with some of the plants.—L. D. Rosenbauer, Southwestern Engineering Co.

Builders against Political Interference with Business.

Building material men in conference at Chicago Jan. 22 adopted the following resolution by unanimous vote:

Unscientific revenue acts—excess profits tax and excessive surtax on individual incomes; laws exempting securities from taxation; laws creating privileged classes such as the Adamson act and the Clayton act; laws discouraging domestic production and encouraging foreign competition; laws permitting agencies of the government to interfere with legitimate business, such as those creating numerous commissions and bureaus for the regulation of industry, and laws authorizing different rates of discount in different federal reserve districts, should be modified, amended or repealed to permit the operation of the great American principle of equal opportunity to all and special privilege to none.

From the Seed Trade.

KOKOMO, IND.—Altho the clover seed crop was light this year, it was of excellent quality. We now expect to see more clover planted than when clover was so expensive.—J. H. Thompson.

TIPPECANOE, IND.—Some clover seed is moving, but most of it is being held by farmers for $12. The quality of the seed in this locality is good. I could buy a carload of seed immediately if farmers could get $12.—Urschel Bros.

WINONA, MINN.—We raise no alfalfa seed here but considerable timothy and clover seed. Both these crops were good, but not as large as in former years. There has been a free and liberal movement of clover seed but timothy seed has not been offered so freely.—Northern Field Seed Co.

LAWRENCE, KAN.—The seed season has not opened up as yet. Values on Kentucky Blue are the strongest of anything on the list. Red clover will be from 20 to 24 cents retail compared with 55 to 60 cents last year, for which there will probably be the largest demand we have had for some time. Alfalfa seed will run from 18 to 22 cents retail, as against 40 and 45 cents last year. Timothy is 35 to 40% less than last year. Clover has been so high heretofore that people who used it as a builder of soil have put off their requirements. Now that it is down again there will undoubtedly be a very good demand for it for this purpose.—J. Underwood & Son, per J. Underwood.

COLFAX, IND.—Roone and Clinton County farmers are holding their clover seed for better prices. About 75% of the crop is being held. The clover seed here has been of fair quality. No timothy seed is grown here to speak of. The low prices of clover will induce a larger sowing this spring. Farmers that are not producers will buy freely. Last spring clover seed cost from $35 to $40 per bushel, and very few farmers bought it. At the prevailing prices a big acreage should be sown for two reasons, (1) The low price of the seed. (2) The great fertilizing value of the clover. We believe the price of clover seed will not be much better, as it is pretty well in line with other farm crop prices. Good seed corn will be in abundance here as it matured nicely and the fine fall for gathering made the cribbing early.—The Wile Seed Co.

Books Received

OVER AND BACK is an interesting book relating to a few of the experiences of two Indiana grain men, Bert A. Boyd of Indianapolis, and William B. Cooley, a former grain shipper from Hartford City, on their recent visit to Europe. The entire narrative is written in Bert Boyd's entertaining style. The beauty of the French agricultural lands; the changing of the French war torn areas back to tillable producing farms and how the battle areas appear now are only a few of the subjects treated. A short description is also given of visits made to Belgium and England. A word of kindly advice in the work warns all men under 90 not to visit Paris unless chaperoned. How two American grain men were nearly lost in that city is also told. By Bert A. Boyd of Indianapolis, Ind., leather, 48 pages.

1,365,173. Corn Elevator. E. J. Jespersion, Ashland, Neb. In this apparatus corn passes thru a hopper having a lower discharge opening controlled by a movable gate. The elevator passes under the bottom of the hopper.

1,365,304. Grain Cleaner. A. C. Cleland, Minneapolis, Minn. Grain in this cleaner comes from an upper hopper and passes on to a system of screens and shoes and is discharged in a cleaned condition.

1,365,303. Grain Cleaning Machine. A. C. Cleland, Minneapolis, Minn. This cleaner comprises a cleaning device to which is attached a sieve. These parts are given a reciprocal movement by a flexible rod. Means are provided to discharge the cleaned grain.

1,364,477. Grain Drying Apparatus. Victor Bigand, Buenos Aires, Argentina. In this apparatus a skeleton frame holds two similar floors one above the other. Each floor is made of perforated sections rigidly mounted on the frame. An elevator at one end of the apparatus carries the grains to the floors and a means is provided whereby the grain on the floors may be dispatched to a hopper below by the tilting of the floor boards.

1,364,247. Grain Separator. Clarence W. Carter, Minneapolis, Minn. This separator has a large receptacle for the grain which is to be treated. Thru the grain with its undesired material is revolved a number of discs. Each disc has numerous pockets, open at one end and closed at the other end. When the disc revolves the undesired material lodges in these pockets and discharges at a point away from the original receptacle.

1,365,465. Cable for Thermo Electric Circuits of Grain Tanks. Leonard Des Isles, Chicago, Ill. In this apparatus a cable made up of a number of insulated conductors is contained within a rigid metal conduit. At intervals along the conductor are attached thermo electric couplings, for forming a dead air space between the conduit and the cable. The circumference of the couplings are made of yielding portions so as to permit the threading of the cable thru the conduit.

THE SOUTHERN Tariff Ass'n (non-partisan) will hold a congress at Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 27, 28 and 29 to prepare recommendations concerning a permanent tariff policy. N. A. Shaw of Texarkana, Tex., is chairman of the agricultural division.

Insurance Notes.

A POOR practice is the holding of a lighted lamp in a bin to determine the quantity of grain therein.

NOT A FIRE in an Illinois grain elevator or warehouse was reported during December. Two granary fires caused a loss of $900 and one flour mill fire caused a loss of $200.

THE ILLINOIS FIRE LOSS during 1920 amounting to $19,831,188, is the largest in the history of the Illinois Fire Marshal Dept. and is attributed by Fire Marshal John G. Gamber to the moral hazard due to falling prices. This is indicated by the increasing large number of losses by mysterious origin.—Division of Fire Prevention Ill. Dept. of Trade & Commerce.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—It is my intention to have a personal liability bill introduced during the present session of the Legislature, but the same has not yet been drafted. At a recent convention of the Fire Marshals' Ass'n of North America in New York City resolutions were adopted favoring the enactment of Personal Liability legislation in all states, and it is aimed to have the bills introduced into all legislatures which are meeting this year.—John G. Gamber, Fire Marshal.

Are Your Insurance Policies Concurrent?

You buy insurance expecting a prompt and equitable reimbursement in case of loss. You have a right to expect and to get just that, but delay in adjustment is very often caused by non-concurrency.

The following notice is printed on the front of nearly all fire insurance policies:

"It is important that the written portions of all policies covering the same property read exactly alike. If they do not they should be made uniform at once."

You cannot have your policies corrected after a loss. Do it now.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL of prices has proved a farce in Portugal. When prices began to soar the government fixed prices on various articles so low that wheat, oils and livestock disappeared from the markets and were smuggled out of the country. A threatening food shortage compelled the abandonment of most of the fixed prices. As a result living costs in Portugal have increased to 8 times what they were before the war. Bread is now practically the only article on which there remains an established price.

Well Known Adjuster Makes Change.

Frank L. Erion, one of the ablest specialists in adjusting fire losses, has resigned his position as assistant manager of the Western Adjustment Co.

Personally Mr. Erion has handled the adjustment of some of the biggest grain losses, among them being the Minnesota Elevator fire at Chicago, $800,000; C., B. & Q. E and F at Chicago; Illinois Central Elevator at Chicago; American Linseed Co., Chicago; the big Murray Elevator fire loss at Kansas City, and the Sunset Elevator at Galveston.

He was born in Missouri in 1874 and while in the employ of the Cudahy Packing Co., attracted the attention of W. E. Mariner, manager of the Western Adjustment Co., by his handling of the losses for the Cudahy Co., and was employed by him as adjuster in 1906 while working on the San Francisco conflagration losses. Besides important grain risks he has handled special hazard cases, use and occupancy and the most complicated problems with justice to the company and satisfaction to the assured.

His new connection is with the Lloyd-Thomas Co., Chicago, as vice pres. of one of the leading corporations engaged in appraising and engineering.
